

Stockholders Get $950,000 Fund Masons' Annuity

More Than 5,500 People
Will Participate in Early Liquidation of the Company's Assets.

LONG LEGAL BATTLE SETTLED BY DECISION

Hewitt Chambers, One of Co-receivers, Says That It Will Be 60 Days Before Making Payments.

Approximately $950,000 in assets of the defunct Masons' Annuity will be divided proportionately among its 5,500 or more policyholders, it was decreed in Fulton superior court Wednesday by Judge George L. Bell, in signing an order in the receivership proceedings brought against the annuity over one year ago by a number of policyholders.

The amount of payments to each policyholder will be determined by the auditor, George L. Bell, Jr., who was appointed several months ago by Judge Shepard Bryan.

After the cash value of each claim has been computed, it was ordered, the assets will be divided among the claimants in proportion to their claims.

Assets of Annuity.
According to Hewitt Chambers, who, together with Attorney John Dickey, is receiver, the assets consist of municipal bonds valued at approximately $730,000; an office building at Edgewood avenue and Ivy street valued at $150,000, and approximately $70,000 in cash.

It will be at least 60 days before any payments on claims can be made, Mr. Chambers stated Wednesday. He said he would not be in position to estimate what percentage of the face value of the policies can be paid until the auditor has submitted his findings.

The order of Judge Bell means that the assets, amounting to nearly $1,000,000, will be turned into cash at once and distributed among more than 5,000 persons, consisting principally of widows and orphans of Masons.

The case entered the courts in January, 1922, when receivership proceedings were instituted against the Masons' annuity, at which time receivers were appointed to take charge of its affairs.

Later the case was taken to the United States court on the bankruptcy issue, and to the supreme court of Georgia on an appeal from the appointment of receivers by Judge Bell. The supreme court held

Saunders Closes Deal Involving Million Dollars

Head of Piggly Wiggly An-in Chicago.

Memphis, Tenn., May 16.—Clarence Saunders, president of Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., announced late tonight that he had closed a deal for the sale of 97 Piggly Wiggly units in Chicago to Chicago financiers, the consideration being more than a million dol-

Mr. Saunders declined to give the names of the purchasers, or to fix the exact amount of the sale price. The sale was effected after an all-day conference with members of the "pool" which was associated with him in the recent New York stock exchange sensation.

HUGHES DECLARES AMERICA ASSURED OF 'ABIDING PEACE'

War Clouds in Far East
Two Years Ago Dissipated While Traditions Have Been Preserved.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, May 16.—America has "every assurance of abiding peace," so far as "our relations with other peoples are concerned," Secretary Hughes said tonight in an address before the national conference of social work.

"The clouds which two years ago darkened the Far Eastern sky have been dissipated," he said, "and to the disappointment of those who make bitterness the test of patriotism we have been able to associate the great powers of the Pacific in a friendly accord supported by mutual confidence, while at the same time we have carefully preserved the sound American tradition of freedom from alliance and the principle of equality of opportunity."

Mr. Hughes said this had been accomplished by achieving "a disarmament of thought" and that the Washington arms conference "had managed to scrap distrust as well as the vestiges of war, and to end wasteful competition, which spelled not security but suspicion."

Reason for Encouragement.
"Today, notwithstanding the gravity of unsettled issues," he continued,
"we find throughout the world ample reason for encouragement in the earnest efforts to remove the economic follies following the great war in the exhibition of enhanced industrial capacity in the swift repair of damaged areas, in the extraordinary extent of recovery despite all difficulties."

"So great has been the progress that it is not too much to say that the whole aspect of affairs would instantaneously change if only means could be found to dispel the fear and apprehension."

Rome Resident Describes Flood at Hot Springs

Lee Langley, Representative-elect of Floyd County, Marooned in Arkansas.

A vivid description of the flood which swept Hot Springs, Ark., was received by The Constitution Wednesday in a telegram from Lee Langley, of Rome, Ga., representative-elect of Floyd County, who was marooned in an observation porch at the intersection of Park and Central avenues when a cloudburst flooded Hot Springs.

His concise description of the flood by five-minute periods follows:
"Water covers street, car tracks, reaches automobile hubs, crawls over wheels, covers bodies and then floods.
Thirty minutes elapse and cars rise and bobble like fishing corks."

"Water fills bodies and they settle for a minute, then rise in the swirling torrent and start down Central avenue. Limousines, runabouts and roadsters floating around look like a flotilla of submarines. Men jump out of cars and grab light post.
Holds for a few minutes, braces himself and springs across sidewalk, landing in open stairway. Man and three children in closed car caught in jam of floating vehicles run into building and are rescued with ropes."

"Woman is caught in jam in cars.
Is rescued after her hair which is cut down to her shoulders is cut off with pocket knives. Prominent merchant forces open car door and catches whiteway post, climbs up perches there for two hours."

Bridges, ice boxes, barrels, porch and lawn furniture, race down the current 25 miles an hour, breaking down store doors and smashing plate glass windows. Men and women by hundreds make their way through the surgic torrent to the mountains and escape with little injury."

Eight Are Found Guilty of Using Mails to Defraud

BRITISH PRESSURE DECLARED FUTILE BY SOVIET ENVOY

Russia as Soviet State Will Not Perish Through Rupture in Relations, Says Krassin.

LAUGHS AT REPORTS OF RESIGNATION

Claims Rupture Would Result in War Within Year Through Stirring Up of Border States.

BY RALPH H. TURNER.
London May 16.—Russia as a soviet state will not perish through rupture in Anglo-Russian relations, according to Leonid Krassin, communist envoy who rushed here to settle the dispute between the two countries.
"It has been attempted to end the soviet use of guns, but that failed," Krassin, who seeks an audience with Lord Curzon, British foreign minister, declared in an interview Wednesday.

"I have not yet seen Lord Curzon but the debate in the house of commons convinced me that the majority of the members are anti-Russian.
However, I'm dealing with the British government, not the house of commons."

Follows Ultimatum.
Krassin's visit follows a British ten-day ultimatum which declared that unless Russia made certain apologies and gave reparations for offenses against England, all relations —both trade and diplomatic—would be broken off.

"Charges in the British note that Russia is conducting anti-British propaganda are baseless," Krassin continued. "I must point out that a rupture of the trade agreement which prevents hostile propaganda would not fetter the hands of the soviet so far as circulating propaganda is concerned."

In offering his answer to another complaint contained in the British note, Krassin said: "There is no religious persecution by the soviet. If a man breaks the law he is tried despite his profession. Religion, itself, we consider mere superstition."

Laughs at Reports.
Krassin jumped from his chair and laughed heartily when he was told that reports from Moscow stated he had resigned his position with the communist government.

"I am a plenipotentiary empowered to arrange informal conferences to clear up minor Anglo-Russian difficulties or to terminate the trade agreement and withdraw consular and other agents," he stated.

"The rupture of the trade agreement probably would result in war within a year inasmuch as the entire world would revert to its old tactics of stirring up the border states, such as Poland and Roumania, to interfere in Russian affairs."

"A break would be most dangerous, because it is a veritable cauldron."

M'DONOUGH URGED FOR POSTMASTER

Has Been Nominated for That Office, According to Announcement Made by Louis Crawford.

John J. McDonough, Jr., prominent Savannah citizen and one of the foremost republican leaders in that section of the state, has been nominated for the Savannah postmastership, according to announcement Wednesday by Louis H. Crawford, acting chairman of the republican state central committee.

Mr. McDonough was nominated for the vacancy by R. A. McCranie, superintendent of the Atlantic Coast Line railway, who is republican chairman of the first Georgia district.

Early confirmation of his selection by the postoffice department is expected, according to Mr. Crawford.
The acting chairman recently visited Savannah and conferred with Mr.
McCranie and other republicans of that city regarding the Savannah postmaster office. A number of leading citizens took the examination. Marion Lucas, former postmaster and more recently police commissioner of Savannah, was one of the three highest eligibles.

PREPARE TO TRY GORDON FINCHER FOR GIRL'S DEATH

Anniston, Ala., May 16.—(Special.)
Gordon Fincher, the young Lincoln man who is accused of the brutal murder of Miss Maybelle McCullough near her home at Lincoln in February, will be tried before a jury in Talladega on May 31.

Fincher was arraigned before Judge A. P. Agee at Talladega Tuesday and the court ordered a special venire of jurymen from which the 12 men will be selected. Relatives of the dead girl have employed Tate & Logan, of this city, to assist Solicitor James B. Sanford in the prosecution of the case, while the defendant will be represented by Judge M. H. Sims, of Talladega, and Ross Blackmon, of Anniston.

Fincher was arrested at his home two days after the murder of the 15-year-old girl, which occurred almost in sight of her home, state officers reporting the presence of blood stains on his gun and clothing. The defendant was kept in the Jefferson county jail for several weeks before being returned to Talladega.

EASTERN RAILWAY CHIEFS APPROVE CONSOLIDATION

A. H. Smith, of New York Central, and Samuel Rea, of Pennsylvania System, Offer Suggestions.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, May 16.—Two eastern railroad presidents, A. H. Smith, of the New York Central, and Samuel Rea, of the Pennsylvania system, gave today their qualified approval of its proposals for railroad consolidation in eastern trunk-line territory.
Mr. Rea, however, suggested that if it was deemed necessary for existing transportation lines to be put into a score or more of the merged systems, permissive methods be used by the government, that time be given to let the involved financial problems work out naturally, and that restrictive federal and state legislation against merger tendencies be withdrawn.

In so far as the commission plans to leave the Pennsylvania and New York Central systems intact in its consolidation rearrangements, both railroad presidents expressed satisfaction. Mr. Rea, however, declared that the Norfolk and Western, partially owned now by the Pennsylvania, should be definitely grouped with his system, while Mr. Smith suggested that the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and parts of the Philadelphia and Reading system should be consolidated with the New York central.

During his testimony, Mr. Rea declared that what he had "hoped for at the time of the passage of the transportation act was an act broad enough to eliminate restrictive federal and state laws, and provided the existing railroads had the earnings to gradually, by absorption or by purchase of their physical property or of their stocks, compact within the existing systems the numerous subsidiary corporations now allied to the existing 22 large systems." He also had hoped, he added, that steps would be taken to "abolish the separate work of accounting, reporting, financing and dealing with state and federal bodies as well as with their own respective owners."

Mr. Rea said the 22 largest railroad corporations of the country earned 84 per cent of all the revenues of class one railroads during 1922 and operated directly, indirectly or through connections a very large proportion of the railroad mileage.

Absorb Mileage Balance.
Under permissive legislation and over a long term of years these companies might by normal growth absorb a large portion of the balance of rail mileage, he said, and the difficulty of financing would be less than if the government ordered specific consolidations accomplished immediately.
The Pennsylvania system itself, he added, has been built up from six hundred transportation companies to an aggregation of 70 transportation corporations, operating as a unit.

Mr. Rea had not completed his discussion when the day's session adjourned.

ber of Commerce will support the

HENRY FORD BOOM SPREADING OVER SOUTH AND WEST

Strong Undercurrent of Sentiment Favors Automobile Magnate for Candidate for Presidency.

VOTE-GETTING QUALITY WAVERS POLITICIANS

Fate of Herbert Hoover's Boom in 1920 Indicates Similar Procedure Being Used.

BY RAYMOND CLAPP.
Washington, May 16.—Democratic political scouts have found a strong undercurrent of sentiment favoring Henry Ford for president. It is strongest in the south and middle west. This strength is confined largely to the man in the street.

Democratic politicians are puzzled
by the statement issued by Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, who, on returning here after a trip throughout the west where he interviewed Ford, predicted that the automobile manufacturer would carry most of the southern primaries. Harrison said he was impressed with Ford's grasp of national and world questions.

There is, at the moment, a tendency among some politicians to waver under the spell of Ford's tremendous vote-getting qualities. Most sensitive politicians are cautious and slow to attach themselves to a candidate purely on the strength of his unusually popular following.

Herbert Hoover's Boom.
The fate of Herbert Hoover's boom is recalled and some predict a similar collapse if Ford reaches the crest of his popular strength several months ahead of the nominating convention as Hoover did in 1920. In fact, there are indications that the spotlight is being turned on Ford deliberately, with the hope that his boom will grow stale before the convention meets.

Another group of democrats is trying to divert strength from Underwood. Ford serves this purpose well because of the popularity of his Muscle Shoals fertilizer project in the south.

But democratic party workers report one significant feature of the Ford boom which may give it enduring qualities: This is the number of persons who have expressed a second choice preference for Ford—persons who are for McAdoo or Underwood or some other candidate, but favor Ford if their first choice can not be nominated. In 1920 Harding and his managers concentrated on getting second choice pledges and the result of the convention demonstrated the wisdom of that strategy.

Block Each Other.
The same situation probably will prevail at the next democratic convention. McAdoo and Underwood are expected to block each other in the convention. Democrats generally look for the nomination of a compromise candidate. He may be Senator-elect Samuel M. Ratson, of Indiana; John W. Davis, of West Virginia, or any one of several others.

Ford will be weak in any such situation unless these politicians reverse their present attitude. They want, first of all, a candidate who will play the political game according to the established rules. Ford has shown himself to be extremely unorthodox in his political ideas.

ISSUE IN NEW YORK ON STATE'S RIGHTS BECOMING ACUTE

Harding Prepared to Force Showdown in Enforcement of Prohibition in New York State.

BY RAYMOND CLAPP.
Washington, May 16.—For the first time since the civil war, the issue of state rights as against the supremacy of the federal constitution has become acute. President Harding has, in a letter to Wesley Wait, of Newburgh, N. Y., challenged the action of the New York legislature in repealing its prohibition enforcement act. He regards it as a flaunting of the federal constitution, which if made effective by the signature of Governor Smith, would make conflict between state and federal authorities inevitable.

Harding is prepared to concentrate prohibition enforcement agents in New York and by a show down, demonstrate whether the federal government can enforce its own laws.

By this letter, one of the strongest documents on the subject of states' rights since the civil war, Harding has given a new twist to the probi-tion issue. It promises to lead to many unexpected developments in the next political campaign.

Significant Utterance.
He made this significant utterance:
"I venture that if, by reason of the refusal or failure of any state to discharge its proper duty in such constitution (maintaining the federal constitution and the laws enacted in pursuance of it), the federal government is at length compelled to enter upon the territory and jurisdiction of the state and to set up those police and judicial authorities which would be required, the most difficult and trying of all tasks."

Boston Declared To Be Weakening In Claim For Bank

BULLDOG TENACITY OF GREAT BRITAIN WEATHERS STRAIN

Cheerfulness in Face of Trouble and Principle of Honesty Marks Attitude in Adversity.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.
Washington, May 16.—England's greatest asset is her character. And this is the aspect that today stands out like a rock of hope in the midst of otherwise pretty unpropitious conditions. It is the character that led her to fix the terms of payment of her debt to United States, and actually to begin to pay the money at a time when her hard-pressed leaders find it far from easy to see where the money is to come from.

These leaders do not see the path out of England's troubles. But the national character leads them to be steady and cheerful, to rely on sound principles and right practices, and for the rest trust to time and fate.
To the eye, the most conspicuous of her troubles is her million and a half unemployed.

They are unemployed because the hoped-for restoration of international trade has been so long postponed. To England, international trade, shipping, the transfer of goods from nation to nation, international banking and the like—all these are to England what corn is to Iowa, or cotton to Alabama. And the international trade is in a serious slump. It is made worse by the French invasion of the Ruhr, which action has retarded the economic stabilization of the world more than is realized in America.

Looking to Future.
England trusts, however, that this is temporary, and is content to wait.
She knows that while the immediate aftermath of the war is pretty bad for her, nevertheless, looking to the future, she has won great permanent advantages. Germany's threat to Constitution Is Told of Service Rendered by One of "Opportunities."

BY RALPH T. JONES.
Good deeds are not always forgotten. Occasionally gratitude voices its appreciation long after the kindly act has passed into history.
Here's a case in point:

Remember the "Ten Opportunities" which The Constitution presented to its readers last Christmas? Ten opportunities to act the part of Good Samaritan to unfortunate citizens of this great metropolis of ours. Ten opportunities to bring a whole year of sunshine into lives which were lived mostly in the shadows of want and suffering.

One of these opportunities, that of "Mrs. W

of the system in foreign lands. Doubt as to whether the board has already this authority caused members who were inclined to favor Boston to halt.

In the meanwhile the preposterous claim of the New England metropolis is subjected to an acid test from which she cannot favorably react.

Mr. Hamlin, the Boston representative on the board, is now definitely counted for Atlanta.

Harding Not Pleased.

Former Governor Harding had a serious talk with Hamlin before he returned to Boston. What was said at the conference cannot be told, but it is evident that Mr. Harding was far from satisfied with what the Massachusetts member told him.

The friends of Atlanta regard Hamlin as a very high-class man and would be perfectly willing to rest their case with him, knowing that they could obtain justice from him, notwithstanding he is a resident of the premier New England state.

At present Atlanta occupies decidedly the best position. It is difficult to get a full survey of what transpired at the hearings for the reason that nearly all parties reserve a stolid and determined silence. But Boston won't get the bank.

APPEAL IS MADE TO HELP NEEDY FAMILIES IN CITY

BY ETHEL BITTICK.

Can Atlanta let the opportunity of saving future citizens slip by? A family living on the outskirts of town needs help. The father has "T. B.," the mother is in bad health and the four little children are in dire need of good food. If the father can get proper food, in three months he will be able to perform light work, physicians state.

This is just one of the thousands of families that the Associated Charities deal with and help every day. Their purpose is the reconstruction of human lives.

The association has seven white visitors and four negroes, the city being divided equally among them and practically all cases in the city cared for.

The different divisions of the work are sickness, unemployment and educational. The educational side for the betterment of the children who will constitute the men and women of tomorrow, is being stressed now more than ever before.

Washington Seminary To Give Entertainment At Woman's Club Hall

BY ELBERT PEABODY.

Washington seminary, assisted by the Tech Glee club and the Griffith Mandolin club, will give a twelve-act vaudeville at the Woman's Club auditorium tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

Raford Gaffney and Miss Irene Thomas have had charge of the production and offer a very pleasing entertainment for the evening.

The feature numbers on the program are "The Skit Impromptu" by a number of beautiful Washington seminary girls; the Tech Glee club quartet, and "Two Prunes," ably portrayed by Miss Irene Thomas and Miss Mildred Fraser. The grand finale will be given by the Griffith Mandolin, Guitar and Ukulele club.

A number of attractive Washington seminary girls, dressed as French maids, will act as ushers.

HARDWARE MEN HOLD SESSIONS

Alabamians Advocate Pure Paint Law and Will Ask Legislation to Govern Manufacture in State.

BY J. T. HOOKS.

Separate sessions of the retail hardware and implement associations of Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Tennessee yesterday resulted in the Alabama association advocating their asking resolutions petitioning their legislature for a pure paint law. These sessions, presided over by A. J. Marshall for Alabama, D. J. Conroy for Florida, W. L. Hogsd for Georgia and M. Richardson for Tennessee, were given over to a discussion of questions concerning the retail hardware business.

It was the opinion of the various associations that rising prices would result in a buyers' strike. A question of how to increase sales brought forth the ideas of an official advertising store, organized road signs, circular letters at short intervals, newspaper advertising and neat arrangement of the stock.

Branches Are Discussed.

The branch store question was discussed and advised as profitable because of serving a larger territory and larger discounts to the merchant in purchasing. The question of handling paints and furniture was discussed and those who already handle them advised the association that they were profitable lines.

After two busy sessions the members were the guests of the Atlanta jobbers, implement, manufacturers and allied trades at the Atlanta theatre. They were entertained by seven acts of vaudeville, Miss Catherine Jones, in the second act on the bill, completely captivated the hardware men with her "one hundred pounds of jazz." Harriet Jones, Catherine's little sister, who also appeared at the entertainment, made her big sister "tear" it up to take away first honors.

Sessions Thursday.

Joint sessions Thursday will be featured by addresses of widely known hardware men. The morning session will be presided over by D. J. Conroy, of Florida. R. W. Hatcher will address the association on "Distribution Problems as Related to the Hardware Merchant." The question will again take its place on the program with W. C. Waddell, of Tennessee, as its speaker.

The afternoon session will begin at 2 o'clock, with M. Richardson, presiding. M. L. Nichols, of Alabama Tech, will be in charge of the question box for this session. The afternoon session will be featured by the address of H. S. Mobley, of the International Harvester company, of Chicago. He will speak on "Sales Promotion." After Mr. Mobley's address the rest of the afternoon will be given to questions on "Implement and Farm Power Machinery."

An exhibit of hardware and implements is open to the public at the auditorium. The exhibits include various brands of machinery, implements and utensils and represent nearly a hundred leading manufacturers.

STUDENT WILL STUDY CHEMISTRY IN VIENNA

BY JACK JOHNSTON.

James Park Hanner, student in the Liberal Arts School at Emory university, will attend the University of Vienna, this summer. Mr. Hanner will continue his work in chemistry, the subject in which he is now doing his major work. In this field of science he has already attained signal success, being a member of the honorary Chi Beta Phi scientific fraternity, and doing research work in physical chemistry.

Mr. Hanner is the grandson of Dr. Charles E. Downman, former dean of theology of Emory, and the son of the late Professor James P. Hanner, of Emory college; the nephew of Dr. C. E. Downman, of the Emory medical faculty, and also nephew of Bishop J. E. Dickie, of the Methodist church. Mr. Hanner will sail July 3, on the Leviathan.

NEW YORK ISSUE BECOMING ACUTE

ing situations would inevitably arise.

This remarkable sentence contains the direct intimation that federal force will be used, if necessary, to make the Volstead act effective in every locality under the jurisdiction of the American flag. It indicates, beyond question, the intention of President Harding to stand as a 100 per cent dry.

Smith Faces Problem.

With one stroke of his pen, the president has placed Governor Al Smith in a most difficult situation—especially in view of the governor's supposed presidential ambitions. Smith is caught between two courses of action. He can either veto the repeal bill and retain the state enforcement law on the statute books, thus incurring the displeasure of the tremendous wet following he has built up, or he can follow the advice of his Tammany organization and approve the repeal. This would force him to go before the country as a wet, committed to the defunct states rights theory which was decided against by the civil war. The weakness of such a position might be well nigh fatal.

Unless the question is evaded in the presidential campaign, the country may witness a unique revival of the states rights debate with frequent references by stump speakers to the famous Lincoln-Douglas debates, nullification, Webster's reply to Hayne, the whisky rebellion, and the whole catalogue of episodes that fill the history school books.

Forcible Federal Action.

While Harding's letter pointed unmistakably to the possibility of forcible federal action in any state which defies the federal law, no one in authority here believes that there would be any real attempt made to seize the state government. The complications that would result, the local resentment, disorder and collateral developments, are beyond imagination. But if New York flaunts her disregard for prohibition beyond a certain point, Harding will make a test of strength by concentrating all available prohibition enforcement agents here, demonstrating to the whole country, for all time, whether the federal law can be enforced. He would attempt to make New York as "dry as the Sahara desert" as a warning to all other "wet" localities. There is reason for stating that some such spectacular move may follow in event Governor Smith signs the Mullin-Gage law repeal.

Former Carolina Governor Speaks At Dinner Here

Mayor Sims Welcomes Greenville 'Acquaintance' Party to Atlanta.

EUGENE A. NOYES.

Former Governor Wilson G. Harvey, of South Carolina, urged the necessity of co-operation between the progressive cities of the south at a supper at the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night.

The occasion was the entertainment of the visiting "acquaintance" delegation from the Greenville, S. C., Chamber of Commerce by the Atlanta chamber. The purpose of the trip, Mr. Harvey says, is not to boost Greenville but to discover in other cities of the south solutions of civic problems.

More than 125 members of the Greenville chamber, including 17-piece band, arrived in Atlanta Wednesday afternoon and were welcomed by the hospitality committee of the Atlanta chamber. On a tour of the city the Greenville delegation evidenced much interest in the Atlanta traffic system and praised it very highly.

Alfred C. Newell, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, presided and introduced Mayor Walter A. Sims, who extended a welcome to the visiting delegation.

Mayor H. C. Harvey, of Greenville, responded with a tribute to Atlanta enterprise. He also stressed the fact that Greenville is out to learn on this tour and not to boast. He termed his city the "young Atlanta of South Carolina."

Robert Alston, vice president of the Atlanta chamber, called attention to the important part Greenville is taking in the textile industry. He said that in the same way that Greenville is the textile center of the south, Atlanta is the banking center and that much good would be derived if such delegations as these brought forth a closer co-operation between the business elements of the two cities.

Among the other speakers of the evening were Mayor William F. Robertson, prominent insurance man of Greenville; Dr. D. W. Daniels, of Clemson college; Captain B. E. Gettys, of the foreign trade service, and W. E. Blümler, consulting sales manager of St. Louis.

This is the third annual tour that the Greenville men have made. The first was over the states of South Carolina, the second over the states of Virginia and North Carolina, and the present tour will embrace principal points in Georgia and Tennessee. The delegation leaves for Athens early Thursday morning.

DENTISTS HONOR DR. R. B. ADAIR AS LOCAL NESTOR

BY J. E. WIGHT, JR.

Dr. R. B. Adair was honor guest at a dinner Tuesday evening at the Capital City club when seventy members of the fifth district Georgia Dental association celebrated Dr. Adair's fifty-fifth year in the dental profession.

Dr. T. P. Hinman was toastmaster for the occasion. The principal speakers were Dr. Rambo, of Marietta, and Dr. S. W. Foster, of Atlanta. Following the main speeches, several of the members made a few voluntary remarks concerning the career of Dr. Adair.

During the evening Dr. Adair displayed to the society instruments which he made sixty-three years ago, when dentistry as a science was in its infancy. At the close of the banquet Dr. Adair was presented with a silver pitcher and a half dozen silver goblets, the gift of the Fifth-District Georgia Dental association.

TRY E. O. FIGGE TODAY

Arrested on Charge of Violating Mann Act.

BY P. M. SPURLIN.
E. O. Figge, alias Frank C. Leal, will be arraigned before United States Commissioner M. Colquit Carter at 10 o'clock this morning on charges of violating the Mann act. The arrest of Figge followed complaints to the department of justice three weeks ago to the effect that he had transported his wife from point to point in the southern states for alleged immoral purposes.

City detectives and agents of the department of justice effected the arrest of Figge and his wife on April 5, at 44 East Harris street. Other aliases under which Figge is said to have used are Joseph M. Mulligan and Charles Danbron.

Montreal is planning a new hotel to cost $20,000,000.

ASK COUNTY BOARD TO PAVE STREETS

City Planning Commission Will Make Request at Next Meeting.

BY CARLTON WHITEHEAD.
At an early date the board of county commissioners will be asked by the city planning commission to pave East Harris street from Peachtree to Fort street, Highland avenue from Fort street to North Boulevard, and East North avenue from Peachtree to Myrtle street, it was learned Wednesday.

Improvement of the thoroughfares named has been sought for some time. The planning commission at its last meeting adopted a resolution by J. A. White, which requests the county to undertake the paving, owing to the inability of the city to do so.

It was pointed out by Mr. White that if Harris street and Highland avenue were opened up a new direct paved thoroughfare would be provided from Peachtree street to Druid Hills, East Lake, Decatur and Emory university.

He also declared that if the four blocks on North avenue between Peachtree and Myrtle streets were improved for automobile traffic a smooth surfaced street will be provided from Boulevard to Marietta street.

Fast Produce Rail Service Is Farms' Need

Kiwanis Club Secretary Discusses Need for Refrigerator Cars.

BY PAUL M. SPURLIN.

Until some method for the sure and speedy transportation to Atlanta and other market points of chickens, eggs and butter from the surrounding country is effected, both consumer and producer will continue to lose profits now obtainable. Such was the sentiment voiced at an inter-city meeting of Kiwanis clubs held in Athens Tuesday.

Suggestion that the railroads of the state take up the matter of more perfect means of marketing was made by Frank Reynolds, secretary of the Atlanta Kiwanis club, on his return from the meeting. At present, according to Mr. Reynolds two main difficulties are standing in the way of obtaining fresh farm products for immediate city consumption. Liability of railroad delays on immediate orders of eggs, butter and milk; while on the other hand, failure of consumption of such commodities if carried in great quantities by hotels and restaurants would result in financial losses.

In a discussion of this farm problem with prominent Kiwanians in Athens, among whom were Judges Blanton Fortson and Major B. S. Walker, Mr. Reynolds said that they stressed the importance of a prompt solution. A plan advanced by Mr. Reynolds was the running of a refrigerator car on all trains coming into Atlanta, in which farmers at various points over the state could ship their fresh products to the city daily. The railroads could build a warehouse for the keeping of these commodities and the consumer would be able to get the products from the warehouse as he needed them.

OLD GUARD PLANS DINNER AT HOTEL THIS EVENING

BY DUTCH WILKES.

The Old Guard will have a dinner at the Ansley hotel at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The object of the dinner is to formulate plans for the perpetuation of the Old Guard. At present the membership consists largely of men past 50 years of age, and the Old Guard is desirous of having the memory of the Old Gate City Guard, which did such valiant service for the south during the war between the states, live on.

The organization plans to bring about a better feeling between the north and south. This was evidenced at the erection of the Peace monument at Piedmont Park, when many social military organizations of the north were present. It is also the intention of the Old Guard to erect this year a monument to General W. H. T. Walker, a Confederate general, who was killed in the battle of Atlanta.

Dr. Eleazer Speaks On "Daughters' Day" At Wesley Memorial

BY C. E. GLAUSIER.

Atlanta's first city-wide observance of Mother and Daughter week, May 12-20, will be brought to a close on Sunday afternoon, "Daughters' day," with a mass meeting at Wesley Memorial church. Dr. R. B. Eleazer, of Atlanta, a leader in the Methodist Episcopal church, South, will speak.

Dr. Eleazer was for several years editor of Missionary Voice, a monthly paper of the southern Methodist, and he has in many ways been actively identified with the work of the church. For the past year Dr. Eleazer has been connected with the international commission, with headquarters in Atlanta.

A large chorus choir, composed of girls from the Girls' Reserve, Junior Red Cross, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and from different Sunday schools, will be directed by Professor A. C. Boatman.

Other members of these organizations are expected to participate in the program. Members of various Sunday school classes throughout the city have been appointed to visit all sanitariums, orphanages, and other similar institutions, in an effort to spread good cheer and further the interest in the observance of Mother and Daughter week.

Macon Kiwanis Club Indorses Plan to Move Body of Gen. Hawkins

Macon, Ga., May 16.—(Special.) The Macon Kiwanis club today indorses a movement to have the body of General Hawkins, founder of Fort Hawkins, of the Revolutionary war period, disinterred from its present resting place near Reynolds, Ga., and brought to Macon.

It is proposed that the body be buried on Fort Hill, East Macon, near the old fort and that eventually a monument be erected there to mark the last resting place.

When Frank Frisch first appeared at the Polo Grounds in 1920, he was hailed as the smartest young college player who ever broke into baseball. He is still smart and still studying. This column tells how.

Brains are Frank Frisch's main asset as a Champion ball-player

WHEN John J. McGraw started in 1920 to rebuild the Giants he looked about for young, smart, teachable players. From Fordham College he took young Frank Frisch—and Frisch made good in the first game he played, and is still making good. His main asset is his brain; he thinks faster and further ahead than do most other players.

But ball games are short and so is a professional player's active career. What does Frisch do in the rest of his time? You will find him, not scattering his time and thought, but curled up somewhere with a good book in his hand.

In his private library, for instance, is Dr. Eliot's Five-Foot Shelf of Books. He bought it with his earnings as a ball player, and now studies it to make his mind still faster and so to increase his earnings—both on the diamond and in later life.

You can do it, too. The question of how to make your spare moments count now and later has been solved; the solution is contained in a little free book called "Fifteen Minutes a Day," which will give you the plan and purpose of

Let us send you a complimentary copy of this booklet, that tells how Dr. Eliot has put into his Five-Foot Shelf "the essentials of a liberal education," how he has so arranged it that even fifteen minutes a day are enough to give you the knowledge of literature and of life, the culture and the power of effective thought which every university strives to give.

You owe it to yourself to know the facts.

OFFICER MORGAN IN RIOT KILLING

W. S. Morgan Is Charged With Shooting Negro Boy After He Had Fallen to the Ground.

BY CARLTON WHITEHEAD.

Trial of W. S. Morgan, Atlanta policeman charged with the murder of Albert Everett, the negro who was shot to death in a riot at the Bellwood avenue crossing in May, 1922, was begun in Fulton superior court Wednesday before Judge E. D. Thomas.

Everett was slain after he and Charlie Hunt, another negro, had engaged in a rock and gun battle with a crowd of white boys, during which Dan Walton, white, was shot and instantly killed, and three others were shot down.

Intense Feeling Causes Row.

Intense feeling between striking employees of the A., B. & A. railway and the men who remained in the employ of the company is said to have precipitated the row between the negroes and a group of Bellwood boys. Hunt and Everett, working as sorters for the railway, are said to have been cursed by the white youths for retaining their jobs instead of joining the strikers. Resenting the remarks, Hunt is said to have replied in a manner regarded by the boys as impudent, and the battle began.

Officer Morgan was jointly indicted with his partner, Officer A. B. Niles, on a charge of murder. Niles will be tried separately.

It is contended by the state that Morgan fired at the negro and killed him after he had already fallen to the ground exhausted from wounds he had received.

T. C. Smith, a car repairer for the A., B. & A. railway, testified that Officer Morgan fired at Everett and his companion when they fled from the mob.

Stand of Defense.

The defense will rest on the theory that Everett was killed by shots fired by citizens through the thin wall of a small wash-house in which the negro had taken refuge. Attorney John H. Hudson, representing Everett, introduced witnesses who stated that Officer Morgan did not fire at the negro either before or after he entered the wash-house.

The wash-house consists of a discarded box car used by employees of the A., B. & A. railway at the Bellwood crossing.

A number of witnesses are yet to be heard. The trial will be resumed Thursday morning before Judge Thomas, Assistant Solicitor E. A. Stephens is conducting the prosecution. Associated with Attorney Hudson in defending Morgan are Attorneys J. R. Lewis and Claude Brackett.

WOMEN URGED TO USE POWER GIVEN BY BALLOT

BY PORTER HARVEY.

At the regular monthly meeting of the youth and citizenship class Wednesday, a branch of the league of Women Voters, Mrs. H. B. Chamberlain, president of the league in Georgia as well as that of Atlanta, gave her impression of the recent national convention in Des Moines, Iowa.

She quoted from a speech by Professor Ely, of Columbia university, in which he said that the greatest dangers that the country faces today are those entailed in the inclination of the government toward nationalism, imperialism, and militarism. He urged, she said, that the women voters use their influence against these tendencies.

To show how much power the woman voter could exert in directing the nation's affairs, Mrs. Chamberlain pointed out the fact that there are approximately seventeen million women eligible to vote in the United States, and only sixteen million men, which shows how important it is that the women keep informed on current issues. She explained that the League of Women Voters does not try to instruct any woman as to how she shall vote, but only gives her information, then lets her decide for herself.

CHABLE REQUESTS ACTION AGAINST TENNESSEANS

A. A. Chable, of Murray county, Wednesday appealed to Secretary of State McLenon to remain persons who live in Tennessee, across the Georgia line, from cutting down trees and using his property. He stated that recently a tree, eight feet in diameter, and a landmark in the community, was cut down by Tennesseans.

Secretary McLenon informed Mr. Chable that legislation had been passed authorizing the governor of this state to confer with the governor of Tennessee, in an effort to have the dispute over the boundary line between the two states settled, and that his trouble would be discussed at the conference.

At the governor's office no information as to the status of the Georgia-Tennessee line could be secured. Mr. Chable, it was reported, had not called there.

Marriages of any students enrolled in Syracuse university will automatically cancel a student's enrollment and all of his or her connections with the university, according to a statement issued by the chancellor of the student body.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

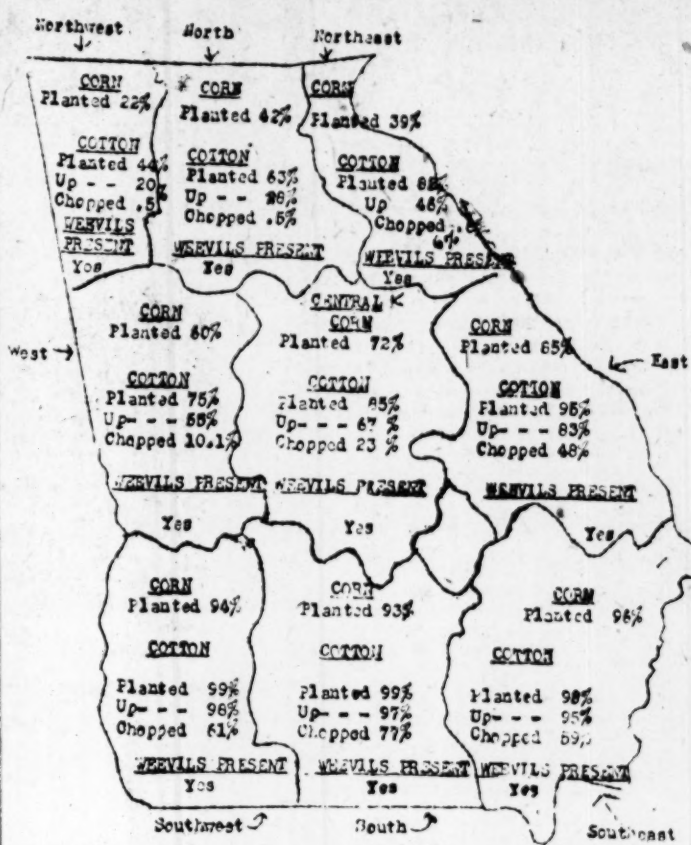

Medical Virtues Retained and Improved—Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. New Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The latest triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines, thus enters upon a wider field of popularity—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price, as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly satisfied with Calotabs.—(adv.)

UNIDENTIFIED MAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN NEAR ELBERTON, GA.

Athens, Ga., May 16.—(Special.)

The mangled body of an unidentified white man, apparently 65 years old, was brought to this city Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. by the train crew of No. 5 southbound Seaboard passenger. It is being prepared for burial by Dorsey's funeral directors.

Conductor Fulton stated that his train struck the man while he was walking along the tracks a short distance from Elberton. He was alive when taken aboard. A wire was sent ahead to Athens to have an ambulance ready to take him to a hospital, but before the train reached the city death had occurred.

The only mark of identification found was a "T. T. Printing" written in ink on the sweatband of the brown "felcraft" hat which he was wearing. His clothing showed signs of dust and mud. He will remain at Dorsey's chapel until disposition is authorized.

USE ADRENALIN TO REVIVE LIFE

improved for three days. The case came to light today. The physicians and the patient declined to give names for publication.

The patient, in a deplorable physical condition, was at a local hospital for a major operation. His heart was in bad condition; therefore, gas, instead of ether, was employed at first, without effect. Ether was then used and the heart collapsed, his color faded, respiration absolutely ceased and every trace of heart action vanished.

The operating physician and three others, the anesthetist, with two attendant nurses, corroborated the statement that he was for several minutes to every usual indication or test dead.

Adrenalin was injected into the heart. In five minutes there were signs of life. Steadily he revived, respiration and heart action being restored. He is at the hospital recovering. His heart action is said to be stronger than before the experience.

WOMAN HELPED HAPPY ONCE MORE

old lady, penniless and alone in the world, facing a bleak outlook without the help of an outside hand:

That help came. The story was put before Atlanta's Christmas heart and out of the thousands of carefree holiday makers, one stepped up and said that Mrs. W. would be provided with a roof under which to live for the year 1923, at any rate.

Wednesday word was received in this office that the year is proving a contented and happy one for the old lady. The money provided by her Christmas benefactor is being used to pay the rent for a room she occupies in the home of a congenial family. With the fear of dispossession thus removed, with a comfortable home provided, Mrs. W. is now spending most of her time piecing quilts. By this work she provides enough for her simple wants and, despite the fact that she is badly crippled in her entire right side, she works cheerfully and artistically at the one thing she can do well.

Legion Members Are Preparing For 'Poppy Day'

Patriotic Women's Organizations Will Help in Sale.

Members of Greater Atlanta post No. 390, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, are making preparations for the annual V. L. W. poppy day drive to be held May 30.

Women's patriotic societies, which so ably assisted in making last year's drive a success, have again volunteered their services.

Proceeds from the sale of poppies on May 30 are used solely for the relief of needy ex-service men and their families. Funds are placed in charge of a special committee of prominent Atlanta citizens, who will have entire charge of the disposition of the money. The committee is composed of the following:

Judge Marcus W. Beck, Colonel William Lawson Peel, Mrs. Sam D.

Jones, Mrs. H. A. Talley, Dr. Howard Bucknell and A. M. Bergstrom. A detailed statement showing the disposition of the funds derived from the sale of poppies last year, will be published to the public in a few days.

BULK doesn't mean MILEAGE

Important discovery by Miller experts revolutionizes cord building!

FOR years, motorists have felt that thick tires were the best for service. But Miller experts have proved that a stiff, clumsy tire naturally gets hotter and deteriorates more quickly from bending and flexing than a tough, supple tire.

10 to 30 Per Cent More Cord Mileage

By reducing needless bulk and building a perfectly balanced, flexible cord, Miller added from 10 to 30 per cent more miles per cord tire. The supple Miller Geared-to-the-Road Cords outserve the old stiff tires from every angle! This balanced construction enables you to get every inch of mileage that the finest materials ever put into a cord can give!

Flat Tread—Buoyant Carcass— Uniform Cords

Millers are the only cords built which combine the advantages of flat tread and uniform cord construction with the buoyant, road-resisting carcass. Prove their superiority on your car! Put a Miller opposite any tire you have. And notice that Millers always save you money—time—trouble! Authorized Miller dealers insure proper treatment.

McMICHAEL ASKS HIGHWAY REFORMS

Announces He Will Ask for Joint Legislative Probe Into Present Conditions of Department.

E. H. McMichael, member of the incoming house of representatives from Marion county, stated Wednesday that he will introduce a bill early in the session, calling for certain reforms in the highway department of the state. He will also ask for a joint legislative probe into the operations of the present highway department since its inception and declared that he is confident such an investigation will be ordered.

Representative McMichael was recently indicted by the Bibb county grand jury on a charge of libel following certain charges he had made against W. H. Crossland, federal highway engineer.

Provisions of Bill.
The bill which will introduce to the legislature contains the following provisions, according to a statement issued by Mr. McMichael Wednesday:

1. For the maintenance of the state highway board, as now constituted; that is to say, of three members.
2. For the setting aside of 10 per cent of the state automobile tax for the support and maintenance of the board.

Under the present law, the board receives all of the taxes collected from the sale of automobile license tags. I am informed that the fund this year will approximate $2,000,000, which means that, under my proposal, the board will receive about $200,000 for maintenance and support.

3. The 10 per cent of the automobile tax set aside for the board is to be placed in the state treasury and paid out only on the warrants of the governor, which are to be issued only upon itemized, audited expense accounts rendered monthly by the board to the governor.

The bill contains a provision, also, for an emergency fund to be placed at the disposal of the highway board, to meet unexpected emergencies that may arise.

4. The remaining 90 per cent of the automobile tax, or approximately $1,800,000, is to be divided among the counties on the basis of state highway mileage.

I estimate roughly that this will amount to about $250 per mile, or between $12,000 and $14,000 to the county. These funds apportioned to the different counties will be supplemented by the county road tax, and with convicts belonging to the counties the state highway system can and will be maintained by the several counties under the direction and supervision of the state highway board, in accordance with federal law. Such part of the funds provided among the counties as is not expended in maintaining the state highway system can and will be used by the counties in the development of local projects for the relief of their residents whose homes and farms are not situated on the state highway system.

Under this plan, if a county wants a special project it will have the right to cooperate with the state highway board.

There is a provision in this section that maintains the state highway system with funds received from the auto tax. A county failing to agree to this will be denied its share of the fund from the tax.

Gives Counties Voice.
A provision requiring the highway board to consult with and be guided by, as nearly as possible, the wishes of the counties in building additional highways in Georgia.

It is my belief that the future of the highway board depends very largely upon the passage of this bill or a measure of the same sort. I am convinced from investigations that a reform of this kind in the highway law will tend to restore the confidence of the people in rural counties in the good roads movement, and thus contribute to an eventual bond issue for the state for highways. It is only on the basis of a candidation similar to this that you can ever hope to get bonds in Georgia for highway purposes.

FIVE MEN NAMED FOR MODERATOR

Presbyterian Leaders From All Parts of Country Gathering for 135th General Assembly.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 16.—Presbyterian leaders of America tomorrow will open their 135th general assembly with the final session of their retiring moderator, the Rev. Calvin C. Hays, and the election of his successor.

Presbyterian leaders from all parts of the country and missionary delegates from 22 missions in foreign countries, gathered here on the eve of the annual assembly, are mentioning five men, three of them ministers and two laymen, as possible choice for the highest office in the gift of the church, that of moderator.

Dr. Charles P. Wishart, president of Wooster college, Wooster, Ohio, is mentioned as favorite in the pre-convention gossip. The other four are Dr. William H. Foulkes, of New York, general secretary of the "new era" movement; Dr. Hugh Kelson Walker, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Los Angeles; William Jennings Bryan, former secretary of state, and Will H. Hays, former republican national chairman and now president of the motion picture producers and distributors of America.

Both Mr. Bryan and Mr. Hays are directors of the church and delegates to the assembly, the one from the southeast Florida and the other from the Indiana synod.

Hays Prominent.

Mr. Hays, who will deliver the address at the first "popular meeting" of the assembly tomorrow night, has come into prominence in the conference hall gossip, because he will announce then his leadership in the movement to raise $15,000,000 to add to the endowment fund of the board of ministerial relief and sustentation. Mr. Bryan declined today to discuss whether he would be a candidate for moderator, and Dr. Foulkes, though prominently mentioned, said he was not in the field.

The sermon of the retiring moderator, Dr. Hays, on "The Appeal of God to a Faltering Church," and the administering of the sacrament of the Lord's supper will be on the program for the opening session of the assembly tomorrow morning. The afternoon business session will be confined to organization and the election of the new moderator and standing and special committees.

Council of Twenty-seven. Second to interest in the selection of the new moderator is the establishment of the first council of twenty-seven, created by the assembly at Des Moines last year and since approved by 153 of the 301 Presbyteries. The council will direct the work of the church in the interim between general assemblies.

Dr. Henry C. Swearingen, of St. Paul, is prominently mentioned for selection as chairman of the council. As at present constituted, the chairman of the council, churchmen say, would exercise more authority than the moderator, but a proposal will be offered at the present assembly to amend the plan so that the moderator would be ex-officio chairman of the council. If adopted, however, the amendment will have to be referred back to the presbyteries for final approval and in the meantime the chairman to be chosen here will serve for five years.

Preconvention indications are that the overture from the Philadelphia presbytery proposing disciplining of the First Presbyterian church of New York because of a sermon on the doctrine of the virgin birth of Christ, delivered from its pulpit by Harry Emerson Fosdick, will result in a real reproval and warning to all Presbyteries to see that the doctrine espoused from their pulpits conforms to the church's confession of faith.

"Stated Supply" Pastor. Dr. Fosdick, who is a Baptist minister, fills the First Presbyterian pulpit occasionally as "stated supply" pastor. In the sermon which provoked the ire of the Presbyterian ministers of Philadelphia he advocated more tolerance in dealing with "liberals" who do not agree with all the doctrines of the fundamentalists.

The convention has before it a large number of overtures, including, besides matters of church government, such subjects of general interest as spiritual healing, prohibition enforcement and Roman Catholic marriages. The judicial commission, which reviews acts of church discipline, will organize tomorrow and begin hearing appeals from decisions of individual presbyteries. One of the most widely known cases coming before it will be the appeal of the Rev. Thomas J. Irwin, former pastor of a Lawton, Okla., church, from the decision of the Oklahoma synod unroosting him because he performed a marriage ceremony in a swimming pool, with pastor and principals attired in bathing suits.

It was reported today that the home missions council of the church in its report Friday morning will urge a pronounced spirit of tolerance and kindness toward members of Jewish faith.

SWIMMING POOLS READY TO OPEN HERE SATURDAY

BY J. F. COLLINS, JR.

L. L. Wallis, general manager of city parks, announced Wednesday that park swimming pools of Atlanta, which have been recently drained and cleaned, will be ready for the formal opening at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Band concerts will form part of the opening exercises at Grant, Piedmont and Washington parks.

Chemical tests to determine purity and bacteria count of the water in the various pools will be made under Mr. Wallis' direction by the city bacteriologist, and every precaution taken to keep the water pure.

Haverford college has just offered three Jacob P. Jones scholarships, of the annual value of $200 each, available for incoming freshmen. The awards are made on character, scholarship and physical vigor and are given for one year, but may be renewed if the conduct and standing of the recipient are satisfactory.

MYSTERIOUS ATTACK REPORTED BY PHINIZY

Says Man Jumped on Running Board of Car Cutting Him Without Cause.

Will D. Phinizy, of 30 West Fair street, Wednesday, was cut severely on the head by a white man, who seemingly without any provocation at all, jumped to the running board of his automobile and made several stabs at him with a knife, police were told Wednesday night. He stated that he was riding along Forsyth street, with his wife and several other persons, when the man appeared.

Phinizy was taken to Grady hospital, and after 25 stitches were taken he was allowed to go home. Police are searching for a man whom they have been told was Phinizy's assailant. Call Officers J. E. McDaniel and C. M. Haggis Investigated.

PEANUT GROWERS RUSH CAMPAIGN IN NEW SECTIONS

Albany, Ga., May 16.—(Special.)—A vigorous campaign will be carried on in middle Georgia for the purpose of signing up peanut-producing counties not reached in the campaign up to its present stage. In southwest Georgia the work is so well advanced in the twenty-five counties to which co-operative marketing was first presented to the growers that its success practically is certain. Finishing the work in this part of the state is only a matter of gathering up the loose ends, according to field workers for the co-operative organization.

Peanuts have not been extensively planted in middle Georgia since the southern counties, but their experiences with the boll weevil last year are causing many farmers to put in a larger peanut acreage this year. In a dozen middle Georgia counties, in the Eastman-Dublin-Hawkinsville section, there will be a considerable peanut acreage, and it is hoped to have more than 50 per cent of this acreage signed up with the marketing organization fully 75 per cent of the southwest Georgia acreage will be in the association by July.

It is believed fully 75 per cent of the southwest Georgia acreage will be in the association by July.

EMORY CRITIC LIKES FORSYTH PRESENTATION

BY W. E. STOWE.

This three-act comedy of George M. Cohan marks quite a pleasing deviation from the Forsyth usual dramatic run of plays. The plot is good and furnishes plenty of interest, although somewhat inconsistent in spots.

John Littel and Belle Bennett act well as usual, and Rankin Mansfield, as a comedian, deserves his laurels. Miss Sylvia Miles captured the unreserved approval of the entire audience.

On the whole, "A Prince There Was," is an exceptional play and the only loser is the one who fails to see it.

Blaze Destroys Garage and Badly Damages Auto

Fire of an undetermined origin Wednesday night destroyed the garage of J. L. Sutton, of 20 Colquitt avenue, and badly damaged an automobile belonging to F. S. Malone, which was in the garage. For a while the flames threatened to spread to nearby residences, but firemen quickly extinguished it.

Brittain to Speak At Commencement At London Institute

Barnesville, Ga., May 16.—(Special.)—Dr. E. T. Holmes, president, announces that the program for London institute's annual commencement is complete and that among the speakers for the event will be Dr. M. L. Brittain, of Georgia Tech, who will deliver the literary address Tuesday morning, May 20. Diplomats will be delivered to a large number of young men and women of the senior class at the graduating exercises in the evening.

Rt. Rev. H. J. Mikell, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Georgia, will preach the commencement sermon on Sunday, May 27, at 11 o'clock in Gordon auditorium. Bishop Mikell is a popular speaker with the people of this community and he will be heard by a large congregation.

The program for the entire occasion will be as follows: Thursday, May 24, 3 P. M.—Primary recital. Thursday, May 24, 8 P. M.—Recital by the departments of music and expression. Friday, May 25, 8 P. SCHOOLS IN FAYETTE TO CLOSE THIS WEEK

Fayetteville, Ga., May 16.—(Special.)—Commencement exercises at the high schools of Fayette county will take place during the next two weeks. The two junior high schools, at Brooks and Tyrone will close this week. The Fayetteville High school will hold the annual inter-society debate on Thursday night and graduating exercises on Friday night.

The work of the schools at Brooks and Tyrone is closely correlated with the four-year school at Fayetteville, which is accredited under Group I of the state list. The same course of study and record system is employed. These schools take care of the high school work of the entire county.

PATRIOTIC SOCIETIES TO DECORATE GRAVES

Fitzgerald, Ga., May 16.—(Special.)—National decoration day, May 30, will be celebrated locally by the annual trip to the National cemetery at Andersonville by members of the local post of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Woman's relief corp and the Sons of Veterans U. S. A. This year's trip will be made in automobiles, truck load of flowers being carried by the party to decorate the graves of union veterans, and 43 graves of veterans of the world war, which are now in the National cemetery at Andersonville. In the local cemetery the graves of all veterans of the civil war, both northern and southern, are annually being decorated by these patriotic societies on May 30.

Building Permits Figures to Pass $3,000,000 Mark

Inspector Says April Record Will Not Be Passed This Month.

That building permit figures for the month of May will surpass the $3,000,000 mark, but will fall short considerably of total figures of April, was the prediction expressed by C. J. Bowen, inspector of buildings, Wednesday. The first 15 days of May May recorded a total of $1,040,303 in permits which were principally for apartment and residence property.

Last month shattered all previous permit records in Atlanta, the total reaching $4,922,792. Several large permits for erection of hotels and other business structures ran the total to this figure, including a single permit for $2,000,000 issued to the Atlanta Biltmore hotel company for construction of a 500-room hotel on West Peachtree at Fifth street.

This hotel now in process of erection will be one of the finest in the south. It will form a part of a nationwide Biltmore hotel system.

The majority of this month's permits are for residences, apartments and small structures. It is expected that a number of large permits for erection of business structures will be applied for before the last of this month.

LOCUST GROVE PLANS 1923 COMMENCEMENT

Locust Grove, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—The commencement exercises, May 18 to 22, bring to a close the twenty-ninth session of Locust Grove institute. President Claude Gray, who has served as its head for 20 years, has been re-elected. He reports good prospects for an enlarged attendance for the coming year.

The commencement sermon will be preached by Dr. C. A. Owens, Lexington, N. C. Dr. D. J. Blocker, president of Shorter college, Rome, Ga., will deliver the address to the graduating class.

The candidates for diplomas are Joe Brown, Junior City; E. L. Conwell, Temple; John Cowart, Fairmont; Charles Davis, Chickamauga; W. J. Greene, Ringgold; T. J. Jackson, Tignall; Loomis Kelley, Vienna; Giber Lacey, Fairmont; Joe A. Medcalf, Corbin; K. Y. E. Sheffield, Pinehurst; Jamie Dennis, Union City; Steve Glass, Locust Grove; Wilma Hill, Cobb; Fannie Morris, Locust Grove; Annyette Peck, Locust Grove; Florence Price, Locust Grove.

At a recent meeting of the board of trustees plans were projected for the early development of the institute into a junior college. One year of college work has been successfully offered for nearly 20 years.

The school now is in the midst of final examinations.

NOSES FOR NEWS ARE CLASSIFIED BY EMORY MEN

BY GLENN R. WALKER.

Since news is divided into classes, it is necessary to divide the "noses for news."

My first type is an Irish nose, one that detects a m. thful story with the same skill that a blood hound detects the trail of a human. His nose is very acute for news of this sort, and he can provoke a laugh from any grouch. Example, Irvin S. Cobb.

Then comes the business type of nose. His nasal powers permit him to detect a business deal with the same skill that old Shylock traced his shelds.

The English type is one of research. A long slender projection that has the ability to take the past, build up to the present, and carry it on into the future in a most vivid manner. Example, H. G. Wells.

The American nose has the supreme gift of being able to follow and cover admirably anything from the starving Armenians to a moonshine raid in Kentucky.

"By their noses ye shall know them."

Senator Harris Speaks.

Fitzgerald, Ga., May 16.—(Special.) Senator William J. Harris, spent Tuesday morning in this city and delivered an address at the courthouse to a large audience, who gave the

DANGER SIGNALS OF INDIGESTION

The Disease That Strikes Like Lightning.

Beware of indigestion—the disease that kills more people and kills them quicker than any other. This warning, by physicians, is particularly applicable this season of the year, when your system "lets down" in tone and vigor with the first approach of warm weather.

What are the warnings that nature gives you of the approach of indigestion? The medical books tell us: 1. Gas, which means that your food is fermenting instead of digesting. 2. A feeling of fullness or oppression in the region of the stomach after eating. This means that the gas has ballooned your stomach and is pressing up against your heart and lungs. 3. A dull, lazy feeling, which means that you are not getting nourishment from what you are eating. 4. Restlessness, unrefreshing sleep, which means that the poisons of indigestion are disturbing your brain and nerves. 5. Sometimes, pain and fluttering around the heart, though this symptom may come later.

Don't take chances with indigestion—you are too apt to lose. If you have had any of the symptoms mentioned above, get your digestive organs to work at once with Dan-Nax, the greatest prescription that was ever written for a digestive tonic. Dan-Nax immediately aids and assists every one of your digestive organs, including the stomach, liver and bowels. Dan-Nax makes your digestion "perfect and complete." You feel its helpful effect from the very first dose. Get a bottle of Dan-Nax today at any drug store. Dan-Nax is so much superior to any other remedy for indigestion that the manufacturers have instructed every druggist to refund the price if you do not get relief, so it costs you nothing if you are not delighted with results. Delay might be dangerous, get Dan-Nax today.—(adv.)

senator's speech close attention. Senator Harris gave a specific report of his achievements in behalf of the people of Georgia. He was introduced by Hon. J. E. Turner and spoke for about an hour.

Come Get These Bargains Going Out of Business

A Message to Our Thousands of Friends

Our original intention was to reorganize our business, following the death of Mr. H. C. Chapman, our late vice president and general manager. With this in view, we offered our entire stock at 25 per cent discount and liquidated all our outstanding bills. Our next problem was to find a new location, the lease on our present store having but a short time to run. Unable to find a suitable location at a figure we can afford to pay and still give our customers the values we have been accustomed to, we have decided to quit business. In closing, we wish to take this opportunity to thank each and every one of our thousands of friends and customers for their loyal support and patronage.

(Signed) G. B. ALLEN, President.

SECRETARY TO CHIEF EXONERATED BY BOARD

Quick Action Is Taken on Charges Preferred by Chief
James L. Beavers.

W. T. Morris, secretary to James L. Beavers, chief of police, against whom charges of drunkenness were made by the chief before city council's police committee, was exonerated by that body at its regular semi-monthly session Wednesday night, without hearing testimony of the complainant.

The case against Morris, which grew out of charges preferred against him in police court last Monday by the chief, who alleged that the former while under the influence of whisky or other intoxicants, drove his automobile through the streets in a reckless manner, was quickly decided, Councilman A. A. Beall, committee member, making a motion which was unanimously adopted, that the defendant be exonerated.

Engaged in Near Fight.
Following the arraignment of Mr. Morris before Recorder George E. Johnson, who dismissed the case, last Monday afternoon, the defendant and Chief Beavers are said to have engaged in a dispute in the hallway near the courtroom, which came near resulting in a fist fight.

Charges of conduct unbecoming an officer against Patrolman C. E. Floyd and G. W. Richardson, growing out of their visiting a house of alleged disrepute, resulted in exoneration of the former and suspension of the latter for a period of ten days.

Patrolman Thomas J. Smith was exonerated of charges preferred against him by Mrs. Mabel Nunnally, of 210 Campbellton road, who alleges he struck her recently when she attempted to settle a quarrel between the officer and his wife.

Permit Given Miller.
A permit was issued to Walk Miller, proprietor of a billiard parlor and baseball machine room over the Tudor theater, to maintain the machine giving baseball returns until given an opportunity to present his case before the committee at a meeting to be held next week.

Miller declared that he had not been extended an opportunity to present his side of the case before council revoked his license, and asked that he be given a temporary permit. He denied that gambling was permitted in the place.

From Rheumatism And Dyspepsia.

"By the help of Tanlac I have overcome a case of dyspepsia and nerve disorders I had suffered from nearly all my life," is the true, remarkable statement made a few days ago by Mrs. D. W. Kirkman, residing on Pecan street, Albany, Ga.

"My symptoms were cramping pains and a burning sensation in the stomach after eating. I was also troubled with constipation and got so nervous and weak I could not attend to my work properly. I lost a great deal of sleep and as time went by my condition grew worse.

"I had about lost faith in all medicines, as well as all hope of getting over my weak state, but I will always feel thankful that I believed in Tanlac strong enough to give it a trial. The effects, even from the first bottle, were wonderful. I lost a great deal of sleep and as time went by my condition grew worse.

Great Interest Shown in Drive Made by Elks

278 New Members Have Been Obtained in Present Campaign.

The biggest crowd that has yet gathered at the regular weekly luncheon meeting given by the Elks in the interest of the membership drive now on was present Wednesday at noon to hear enthusiastic reports rendered by the leaders of various working teams.

Gathered about the board were about 300 members of Atlanta lodge No. 78, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, and satisfaction was evidenced over the fact that practically every team in the field reported new applications.

With 70 teams active in the campaign, reports for the past week showed that 133 new applications have been secured. At the luncheon of last week 142 new applications were reported, making a total of 278 for the drive to date. Added to the above totals are two or three hundred applications said to be in the hands of committees that were prevented for various reasons from making formal reports at the Wednesday luncheon.

A spirited address was delivered by Judge J. F. McClelland, who congratulated the various committee leaders upon the splendid showing so far made, and urged the workers to more strenuous efforts during the remaining days of the drive.

Notable among the reports made at the luncheon Wednesday were those of Joseph R. Cooke, head of the patrol team, which, with its report of 21 for the present week and 83 for last week, has a total of 104 applications; W. A. Jones, committee, which came a close second, with 12 for last week and 17 for this week, making a total of 29; J. B. Everett's team, with 11 for last week and 13 for the present, a total of 24; Mike Greenblatt, leader of the band, with 14 for the civil war, Captain and report Wednesday of 9, making a total of 23, and many others that made creditable showings. Special congratulations were offered to W. R. Jennings, whose initial report was made Wednesday, showing 10 applications.

The campaign comes to an official close on May 24, the last day on which applications will be received for the ceremonial that is to be held in the city auditorium June 21.

RADIO DEPARTMENT

EARLY HOUR FANS WILL ENJOY WGM

Trio of Popular Stars Will Be Heard at Early Broadcast Hour at "Old Reliable" Today.

Listeners to the "old reliable" station on the 6 to 7 o'clock broadcast tonight will enjoy a program of exceptional balance and a variety of musical features which will please the most critical.

The first good news is that Mrs. Olive Butler, charming and extremely popular soprano and pianist, will be heard in a number of solos. Mrs. Butler has been absent from this station for many weeks on account of slight throat trouble. This trouble has been arrested and she will be heard on the early broadcast at Station WGM.

Miss Christine Florence, gifted, young mezzo-soprano, will share the vocal honors with Mrs. Butler. Miss Florence has a rich and well trained voice and song lovers will thoroughly enjoy her contributions to the early program.

Interpersing the vocal solos Ernest Durrett, Station WGM's exclusive and widely known steel guitarist, will be heard in a number of guitar solos. Ernest strums a wicked guitar and listeners will enthusiastically welcome his renditions.

By way of parenthesis, it might be mentioned that the early programs broadcast by Station WGM are attracting unusual interest. The increase in the number of telephone calls and personal calls from local listeners who want to express their thanks in person, is particularly noticeable. That is the exact objective of Station WGM, i. e., to please listeners.

Presenting a group of station WGM "aces," the "old reliable" station of the south "signed on" on the other last night at midnight with a musical program which will live in the hearts of listeners as a real treasure. Mrs. Marjorie Stanton Megachee, brilliant and popular mezzo-soprano, and Mrs. J. R. Forrester, winsome and accomplished young coloratura soprano, headed the list of "aces" offered on the late program. Miss Olive Walker, gifted and well known dramatic soprano; Miss Jeanne Wynne, pianist-soprano, and Jimmy Finley, baritone-pianist, ably assisted Mrs. Megachee.

1919 Deflation Claimed Caused By Reserve Bank

President of Cotton Manufacturers Terms Policy
"Error of Judgment."

Richmond, Va., May 16.—The sudden and abnormal deflation in business that followed the year 1919 and which still is felt in most all industries of the country was accelerated by the acts of those in control of the federal reserve bank system in putting on the brakes too suddenly, C. E. Hutchison, of Mount Holly, N. C., president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' association, said in his annual address at the opening today of the association's twenty-seventh annual convention. While the effects of the deflation are still in evidence, Mr. Hutchison declared, the latter part of 1922 and the first four months of 1923 show conditions are improving throughout the country. "The acts of the federal reserve system were certainly through no ulterior motive," the president of the association added, "but from error of judgment as to the results. I consider the establishment of the federal reserve banks one of the most constructive acts of legislation ever put upon the statute books of the United States, and it is hoped that those in control who have in hand the wheel and axle of the great cotton industry, will be guided by the voice of wisdom."

Sound and Stable Basis.—Business conditions, Mr. Hutchison said, appear to be on a sound and stable basis and if prudence is observed, prosperity will continue. The speaker criticized the loose methods which have been observed in governing the indiscriminate entry of undesirable aliens into this country and said the strictest laws possible should be enacted to sift out these persons.

Speaking of the outlook of the cotton industry, he said: "The cotton trade of the world has for the past several years viewed with alarm the possibility of being forced with an inefficient supply of cotton to keep the mills in operation and supply the wants for cotton goods. This has been largely due to the ravages of the boll weevil into territory hitherto unaffected. However, there has been no famine in the cotton supply, but had it not been for the greatly decreased demand for cotton for European countries since the beginning of the world war, no doubt we would have seen the spectacle of mills in America and Europe standing idle for want of raw material."

Overcome Boll Weevil.—"I have implicit faith that the depredations of the boll weevil will be overcome and that the production of cotton in our southland will again become normal, but when that comes of hope our people will not do as they have done in the past; that is, plant cotton almost exclusively, but adopt the more sensible method of first making the farms or plantations absolutely self-sustaining by raising sufficient food and feed crops, as well as hogs and other livestock, and then plant whatever cotton they desire, and use intensive cultivation and fertilization, and I think we will raise plenty of cotton on less acres of land and the planters will not be forced to sell under prices justly, as they will be independent of the debts incurred by buying their supplies from the west at high prices."

More than 800 cotton manufacturers, growers and dealers were present at the opening session of the convention, which was to be addressed this afternoon by Governor Cameron Morrison, of North Carolina, and Governor Thomas G. McLeod, of South Carolina. Both executives were to urge co-operative effort by cotton-growing states in the mutual development of the industry.

Interesting discussion of the hearing of transportation charges on the textile industry was delivered by Attorney Edgar Watkins, of Atlanta, one of the south's recognized authorities on freight problems.

"The cost of manufactured cotton goods is affected by the charges for transportation," Mr. Watkins declared. "Essentially, therefore, transportation must be regarded as a part of production."

"Generally, we speak of production as including only the service performed by the grower. This too narrowly restricts the meaning of the word. Production properly defined includes every service necessary to prepare a commodity for use by the consumer."

"The seed, the fertilizer, the stock and the farm implements used in growing raw material may all bear transportation charges. Coal, machinery and supplies used by the manufacturer, as well as the finished product must generally pay for the service of transportation. These comprehensive transportation services involve cumulative costs, the total of which is a substantial proportion of the amount the consumer must pay."

Mr. Watkins outlined the history of the freight rate system now in use and discussed various phases of transportation.

SHOPMEN RESENT DIVERGENT VIEWS

Lehigh Officials and Strike Representatives Contradictory in Reasons for Difficulties.

Washington, May 16.—Officials of the Lehigh Valley railroad and representatives of shopmen who are still on strike presented contradictory views of reasons for operating difficulties today in the interstate commerce commission investigation into efficient railroad management. Though conditions of the Lehigh were asserted to be normal now, J. F. McGuire, general manager, and F. M. Hibbits, superintendent of motive power, declared that it had to face during fall and winter months deliberate and extensive sabotage by strikers and sympathizers, in the destruction and engagement of locomotive, machinery and rolling stock.

The unions, through Henry T. Hunt, attorney for the railroad department of the American Federation of Labor, filed a memorandum declaring that operations were held on a number of lines which have refused to settle the 1922 shopmen's strike and that executives in charge of the roads had conspired to deprive shopmen of strike. An opportunity was sought to introduce evidence at future hearings to show the efficiency of the railroad which had settled with strikers.

Mr. Hibbits testified as to the circumstances surrounding what he claimed as 200 specific cases of sabotage, deliberate damage to the railroad's property, equipment, glass, grit, dirt and iron ore, he said, were dumped into the bearings of cars; locomotives were choked with coal thrust into smoke pipes and working parts, and homes of employees who took strikers' places were dynamited.

At present, the witness said, the Lehigh is operating by agreements between the management and shop workers organized into "company unions," on a more efficient basis than it could operate with agreements involving the regular trade unions.

COMMENCEMENT HELD AT M'DONOUGH SCHOOL

McDonough, Ga., May 16.—Graduation of the McDonough High school were held Monday night. Miss Ruby Dickson graduating with first honors, having attained an average of 98.17. John P. Yarbro, pastor of the First Methodist church of Griffin, delivered the commencement sermon Sunday.

This has been one of the most successful years in the history of the McDonough schools and they are now in class 1 of the accredited list of state schools. H. K. Adams, superintendent, and the entire faculty have been re-elected for another term.

eclipse her as the leading power in international trade is postponed for generations. By the colonies she acquired, either directly or indirectly, her bases for international trade have become even more far-flung. Through her immediate troubles, England "will carry on," and in due course will get back to something like her old place.

Of the things that have happened to the British empire, the most conspicuous is the loosening of the ties that bind the various parts to the mother country. Ireland is gone, and gone forever. No possible outcome of the present troubles in Ireland will cause England ever again to send troops there. English public opinion would not endorse it.

England will not go to war for anything anywhere. She is weary of war. If there is another war of maintaining order and civilization in the world, England hopes it will appear. But even if it fails to appear, tired England will not, for the present, take up arms for anything. Egypt has been divorced from Great Britain, not so completely as Ireland, but much more than was the case before the war. There is serious concern as to whether the ties with India can be maintained. Other British dominions show a disposition toward increasing independence from the mother country.

Independent Treaty.—The fact that Canada, a few weeks ago, for the first time in history, made an independent treaty with the United States without conducting the negotiations through London, passed almost unnoticed by the American public. But to British leaders of thought it was a well-observed omen. Nevertheless, the British empire is sure to remain as a federation of commonwealths. Politically and economically the British empire in the course will come back.

The strain of England's present troubles is pretty serious. Her million and a half of unemployed must remain in that condition until world trade is back to normal, and everybody knows that world trade will not come back to normal until the German reparations are fixed. If the time is too long postponed England will be compelled to find a way to send her surplus population to her colonies.

One reason for England's business depression is her unwillingness to adopt the artificial stimulant that practically every other country in the continent has adopted, the hyperinflation of currency.

Because of currency inflation, the content, and particularly the farming classes of the country, are enjoying a period of stimulated prosperity.

In England, on the contrary, the farmers are unprosperous. Toward the end of the war, England came to a point where she raised upwards of 60 per cent of her foodstuffs. Since the war this has been reduced.

No Modern Machinery.—England's farmers have not adopted modern machinery to the extent that the continent has. In all this, however, England is merely paying the temporary price of high character and sound economic principles. She has refused to inflate her currency materially. After the continental countries have ended their joy ride on inflated currency, England will be in the position to reap the fruits of her devotion to sound money and sound principles generally.

The present is the period of hardest strain on British character and British common sense. If she has come so far without "falling for" the fallacies of inflated currency, or communism, she will come through to the end. Nearly everybody believes there will be a change of government soon. But it will not be a change toward any kind of dangerous radicalism. If it should be a so-called labor government, it will still be a common-sense government, for British labor is essentially sound and conservative.

STUDENT SOLDIERS AT FORT BENNING GET REAL TRAINING

Fort Benning, Ga., May 16.—Doughboys rolled out of their wet blankets soon after the sun broke over the horizon in the east and began their training along with heavy clothes early today, on the second day of the maneuvers held at the infantry school.

Nothing but pup tents were available for use during the heavy rain which fell in torrents last night on the reservation. Student officers and scores of enlisted men from various branches of the service were experiencing their first work under all kinds of weather conditions.

In command of the various units are student officers. Regular commissioned leaders are entrusted with the orders given them from higher commands and as they work out their own problems, they will qualify as to the amount of good accomplished through the courses given at the school.

nesday that it is likely that the federal suit will be withdrawn.

The jury verdict Wednesday, which became the decree of Judge Bell, follows:

(1) The jury, find the issues in this case as follows:

(a) We find that the defendant, the supreme lodge of the Masons' Annual, is insolvent; that the receivership should be made permanent, and that the order be liquidated, and defendant and all others are enjoined from interfering with the receivers.

(2) Upon such liquidation the following shall, each and all, be held to be creditors entitled to share pro rata in proportion to their several claims in the funds of the order and without priority among themselves.

(a) All Class A annuitants who were entitled to annuities on February 4, 1922.

(b) All Class A annuitants who were entitled to annuities on said date.

(c) All class A members who held, on said date, claims for disability, or old age or other claims where the same were matured on said date.

(d) All Class A living members in good standing of the order on the date of February 4, 1922, by calculation thereof on the basis of interest and 4 per cent, according to the usual actuarial method of calculating such claims, on the assumption of adequate rates. In the case of annuitants actually determined by the happening of the terminating contingency (for example, the death of the sole annuitant) since February 4, 1922, the value thereof shall be ascertained in accordance with the facts as ascertained rather than by calculation on the probability.

The reserve liability on the certificates of living members shall be calculated as of the date of February 4, 1922, according to the usual actuarial method of calculating reserve liabilities on insurance contracts, at 4 per cent on the assumption of adequate rates.

Where a member was in good standing on February 4, 1922, and has died since, his death shall not affect the liability under his certificate, but the same shall be calculated as of the date of February 4, 1922, and the liability shall not be changed because of his death.

All of the liabilities thus listed shall be paid out of the funds of the order and without priority among themselves, and a parity with other creditors after payment of the expenses of litigation.

(3) We find further that this case shall be submitted to an auditor to fix, determine and report the amount of the individual claims of the various members of the various classes pursuant to the basis fixed and determined by this verdict, as well as any other claims of other creditors or persons.

Attorneys interested stated Wednesday that it is likely that the federal suit will be withdrawn.

Attorneys interested stated Wednesday that it is likely that the federal suit will be withdrawn.

The jury verdict Wednesday, which became the decree of Judge Bell, follows:

(1) The jury, find the issues in this case as follows:

(a) We find that the defendant, the supreme lodge of the Masons' Annual, is insolvent; that the receivership should be made permanent, and that the order be liquidated, and defendant and all others are enjoined from interfering with the receivers.

(2) Upon such liquidation the following shall, each and all, be held to be creditors entitled to share pro rata in proportion to their several claims in the funds of the order and without priority among themselves.

(a) All Class A annuitants who were entitled to annuities on February 4, 1922.

(b) All Class A annuitants who were entitled to annuities on said date.

(c) All class A members who held, on said date, claims for disability, or old age or other claims where the same were matured on said date.

(d) All Class A living members in good standing of the order on the date of February 4, 1922, by calculation thereof on the basis of interest and 4 per cent, according to the usual actuarial method of calculating such claims, on the assumption of adequate rates. In the case of annuitants actually determined by the happening of the terminating contingency (for example, the death of the sole annuitant) since February 4, 1922, the value thereof shall be ascertained in accordance with the facts as ascertained rather than by calculation on the probability.

The reserve liability on the certificates of living members shall be calculated as of the date of February 4, 1922, according to the usual actuarial method of calculating reserve liabilities on insurance contracts, at 4 per cent on the assumption of adequate rates.

Where a member was in good standing on February 4, 1922, and has died since, his death shall not affect the liability under his certificate, but the same shall be calculated as of the date of February 4, 1922, and the liability shall not be changed because of his death.

All of the liabilities thus listed shall be paid out of the funds of the order and without priority among themselves, and a parity with other creditors after payment of the expenses of litigation.

(3) We find further that this case shall be submitted to an auditor to fix, determine and report the amount of the individual claims of the various members of the various classes pursuant to the basis fixed and determined by this verdict, as well as any other claims of other creditors or persons.

sion which is the barrier to accord and to give a sound basis for the confidence which all desire."

The secretary of state said it was clear that essential conditions of peace were not to be found in artificial arrangements, but that it was "the disposition of peoples that counts."

"If those who are keenly desirous of enduring peace will descend to the contemplation of realities, it will be seen that there is only one way to the goal—a long and difficult way—that is, by the cultivation of the spirit of friendship and good will among peoples through which alone the source of dangerous life can be dried up."

Adjustment Difficult.

Mr. Hughes declared that those who create a public sentiment which makes it difficult for honorable statesmen to find ways of practicable adjustment of international problems were worse offenders than intriguing diplomats.

"Responsible leaders," he continued, "are harried by their opponents, ambitious rivals are ready to take their places, editors and orators are quick to exhort those who seem to make any national sacrifice in the interest of a reasonable adjustment and thus renders futile the agencies of peace, however, admirably contrived they seem to be."

The secretary of state said that if America was understood abroad it was because of the gratitude there for the work done by American relief agencies.

A Georgia Organization Renders This Service

THE Bell telephone organization which builds, operates and maintains the telephone system in Georgia, forms a state division of the company with headquarters in Atlanta.

The Managers of every branch of the service in Georgia are under the direction or supervision of the Georgia officials. This insures quick and direct attention to your needs.

The entire personnel of the State organization is composed of experienced men and women who are native Georgians or long residents of the State, and familiar with the telephone development in this section.

There were approximately 3,389 telephone workers in Georgia January 1st, 1923, and their annual payroll was more than $4,000,000.

The telephone workers are your neighbors and friends, they spend their salaries and wages in much the same way you spend yours, and most of it finds its way back into the local trade channels.

Their chief duty is to serve you. They stand guard over your service day and night and build constantly to provide for the future needs of the State. They find much pleasure in a task well done.

We are all living a busy life and working here together for a greater Georgia.

Let's get better acquainted so we can help each other.

for Graduation Twenty million proud users approve this gift

Eversharp and Wahl Pen will serve the graduate for life—will meet his every writing need, business and social.

The very weight of numbers suggests Eversharp. Only America's finest pencil could have twenty million users. And such popularity argues well for its reputation as a graduation gift. Remember, Eversharp can't be copied. The rifled tip and the lead index are Eversharp features. One assures a firm lead free from slip or wobble; the other tells always the length of lead in the barrel. And Eversharp perfect balance suits the hand to a T.

Matching the beauty and accuracy of Eversharp is Wahl Pen—the greatest modern step forward in pen construction. It holds more ink, because the barrel is all metal. It cannot crack or break. The screw threads will not wear out.

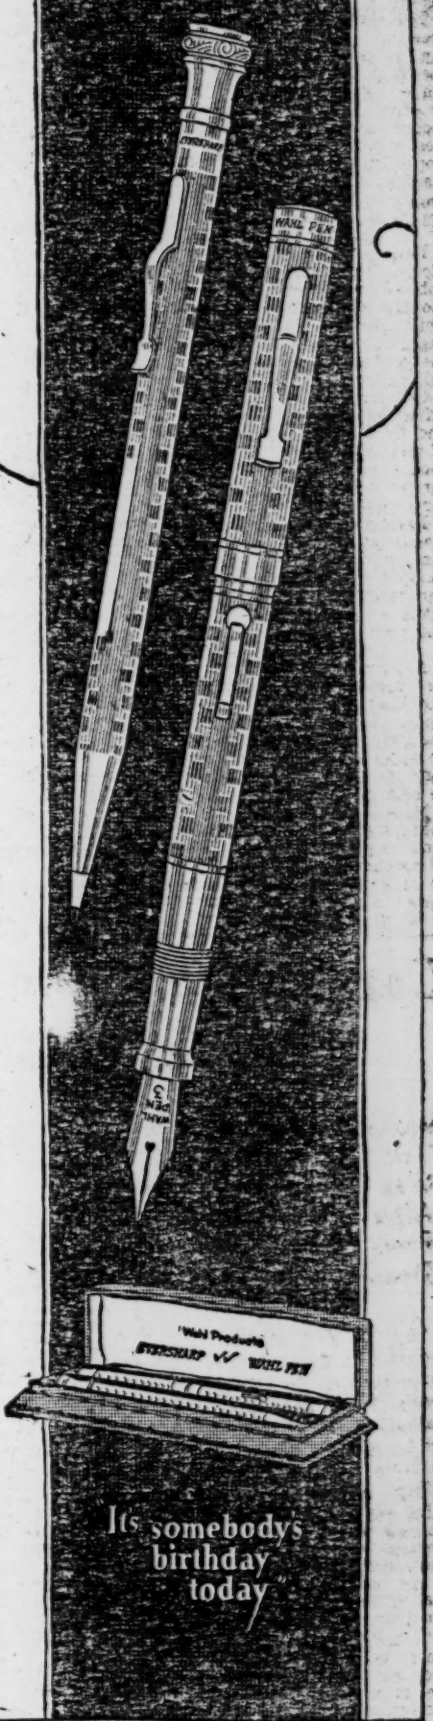

Give both, matched in gold and silver. Buy them in the velvet-lined gift box. Eversharp, $1 to $10—Wahl Pen, $4 to $10. Solid gold at higher prices. Look for the name on each.

SPRING STREET VIADUCT RUSHED TO COMPLETION

Immense Structure Requires Material — Will Be Open on Schedule Time, October 30.

BY W. C. TIPPENS.

"All indications point to the fact that the Spring street viaduct will be completed and ready for the heaviest traffic that the streets of Atlanta are able to pour over it by October 30, the day called for by the contract," was the statement given out from the field office of the construction engineer Tuesday. And from the signs of activity which are evident on the building grounds, it is evident that the above statement will prove true.

When completed, the viaduct, located near the heart of Atlanta's business district, will be one of the greatest engineering feats of the entire south. Few people realize the mammoth proportions of this construction, which for years to come will feel the throbb and flow of the traffic of the city.

Figures of the material used in construction will help to give some idea of this size. Over 2,400,000 pounds of structural steel alone were used in the steel portion; 500 cubic yards of cement, weighing over 46,575,000 pounds, were used in that part constructed of cement, and the bridge is built up of thirty spans, which vary in length from 31 feet to 137 feet. It is estimated that the entire structure when completed will weigh 50,000,000 pounds, and the engineer interviewed stated that he knew of no article which would carry enough weight to give his huge bridge a fair test.

When completed, the viaduct will not be ornamented with the weighty superstructure with which the other bridges of the city are decorated, but instead this bridge will carry a head-onnet of only a small hand-rail, so placed for safety. This rail will furnish protection for four lines of traffic which will be able to traverse the bridge, as well as protect the thorough which will swarm the ten-foot sidewalks on both sides.

The accident of Tuesday, in which two men were killed, was the only serious happening of its kind since work was begun some time ago, and it is due to the extreme care exercised by those in charge that this is true. It is a feather in the caps of these men that there have not been more accidents, as are usual on works of this size.

Elks' Hall Bath Is Being Given With Difficulty

First Washing in 13 Years With Paving Wagon Smoke Nuisance.

BY S. M. KELLEY.

Atlanta Elksdom is having its face washed under extreme difficulty. On February 22, 1911, the corner stone of the B. P. O. E. hall was laid and since then the building has never had a bath. For 13 long years it has appeared the same, only taking on another coating of blackness each succeeding year. The matter of a bath has never crossed its mind and now in its unlucky thirteenth year time has come for it to go through the ordeal.

The gurgling, whose open mouth was full of dirt, even fuller than the little lad after "rooting the peg," shows a vast emptiness and ugly disposition after the diligent washers have finished, yet the smoke from the wagons that are being used to pave Ellis street is doing its duty and some of the creatures have even settled back in repose, as a contented veteran youth who has been washed and again has upset the jam.

B. C. Broyles, secretary of the Atlanta lodge of Elks, states that it is the intention of the members to clean both inwardly and outwardly for the coming convention in July. What is going on inside remains to be seen, but the little smoke wagon spit wits and sputters and a cloud of smoke envelop the hall and form a wet blanket for this fine intention, which reminds us that it is hard to remain clean in the city of Atlanta.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ELECT OFFICERS; ESSIG PRESIDENT

BY E. E. MILLICAN.

Cour de Lion commandery of Knights Templar held its annual election Tuesday night at the Masonic temple. The following officers were elected: Chris Essig, president; Dr. G. P. Armstrong, vice president; Bart Goodwin, secretary, and H. Reese, treasurer.

The military officers of the drill corps were elected as follows: Luther B. Stephens, captain of corps; Thomas Brown, first lieutenant; and A. D. Barber, second lieutenant.

The committee on entertainment is composed of Dr. A. D. Armstrong, H. J. Hunt, John W. Murrell, A. D. Barber, N. W. Prentiss and Richard Lewis. The committee plans to broaden the social activities of the corps by informal dances and other entertainments.

The wives of the members of the corps are organizing an auxiliary. This movement of the women has the heartiest co-operation of the members.

Police Barbecue.

BY S. M. KELLEY.

The relief association of the Atlanta police department is sponsoring a barbecue to be given today at Lakewood. Proceeds from this entertainment will go to widows of policemen and disabled members of the force. Ticket sales are good, and it is expected that attendance will surpass all previous records.

Young Girl Invades Realm Of Science With Success

MISS JANICE AMOROUS PRACTICES GERMOLOGY

Miss Janice Amorous, pretty young daughter of Martin Amorous, who is Atlanta's first woman bacteriologist. She is shown inspecting some of the pretty little germs in whose welfare she is chiefly interested.

BY MARTHA RANDOLPH.

There are few fields of endeavor where women have not yet entered won glory for themselves, in spite of the fact that it has only been a few years since men have accorded them the right to find interest beyond the confines of the home.

However this may be, their natural abilities fit them better for certain kinds of work and this is why Miss Janice Amorous, pretty young daughter of Martin Amorous, of Marietta, decided she would rather be a bacteriologist than a doctor, and quietly added, "You see I would never be willing to have a woman doctor for myself, so why should I expect anyone to have me? But laboratory work seems more in line with the woman's part, so I decided several years ago to become a bacteriologist."

In the Exchange building at the corner of Ivy street and Edgewood avenue Miss Amorous has opened an office, and every day during office hours is quietly and intently at work on queer smeared slides of glass.

Questions Tumble Out. There were so many strange-looking objects about the room that the questions just tumbled over themselves in surprised interest, to which Miss Amorous replied: "Well, I'll have to begin at the beginning, which is next best to 'once upon a time' for a story's beginning, isn't it?"

"Not long ago I was in the University of Alabama, and after I finished I went to the New York Post Graduate Medical School and hospital. After I finished there I came

Full Plans Announced For Emory University New Teachers' College

Eight Units to Cost Million Dollars Will Be Used in University Branch Newly Planned.

BY M. L. LAWRENCE.

Plans for the new teachers' college of Emory university were outlined Tuesday night by President Harvey W. Cox at the formal opening of the new Emory University-DeKalb county school building on the Emory campus. The opening was in the nature of a reception given by the Emory Parent-Teachers' association.

Dr. Cox stated that the completed teachers' college will include eight units, similar to the one just opened, a central administration building, and a woman's dormitory, the entire plant to cost more than $1,000,000. The school will offer model instruction to the children of Atlanta in kindergarten, elementary, junior high, senior high, laboratory and gym work. The cost of the initial unit, opened Tuesday night, was $55,000, made possible by a gift of $25,000 from the T. T. Fishburne will, $25,000 from Asa G. Candler, Jr., $10,000 from Walter T. Candler, and $5,000 from W. D. Thompson. The trustees will complete the building scheme as soon as sufficient endowment is obtained for the teachers' college.

The recent school survey of Atlanta showed that there are 270 children of grammar school age in the Emory district. The new building on the Emory campus can accommodate 225 students at present, and the completion of the lower floor will double this capacity.

Plans for the next school year call for eight grades and seven teachers in the school. A director of play for boys, and one for girls, is being featured. Mrs. Sally Fanny Gleaton is principal.

JOHNSTON IS PRAISED FOR WORK AT GRADY

BY F. C. SULLIVAN.

Steve R. Johnston, superintendent of Grady hospital, Wednesday received congratulations from Mayor Walter A. Sims for efficient management of the institution, as recognized in a letter received by Mr. Johnston from Dr. Franklin H. Martin, director general of the American College of Surgeons, Chicago.

In the letter received by Mr. Johnston he was praised for the general progress made at Grady hospital, and especially favorable comment on his staff meetings, case records, laboratory facilities, and the type of work being done.

INVOCATION.

I think 't to run this column
Would be a shameful cinch,
If all my frenzied measures
Weren't measured by the inch.

I write a lyric masterpiece,
(O slaves on galley benches, How dared you mutter at your chains?)
'Tis but so many inches.

My brain is wracked, the office clock
Is ticking off my doom, Arenas of empty news-sheet
Engulf me like a tomb.

Marooned in the Sahara
I should not beg thy grace,
But God in heaven guide me
Through this terrifying space.

REINCARNATION.

Long ages since, high on a hill,
I fought a savage pack
Of many eager lovers
And slung you from my back.

Across the raging torrent,
And through the treacherous fen,
I carried you, a fighting fiend,
Up to my mountain den.

The club, it did my wooing,
The lash, it was my prayer,
But ah! you were a scornful maid
Till love came to us there.

The other day I saw you,
And when you smiled at me,
All in a flaming instant
I was no longer free.

Emory.

Alas, how man has fallen
From his ancient high estate!
Where once I seized and took You.

Now, you can judge my fate,

THE SINGLE WINDOW.

There is a single window
In my prison walls,
Where, through a broken shutter,
The starlight falls.

All the day it is silent
In my narrow cell,
But always light from this window
Like a ringing bell.

All the night it is sombre
Save where starlight falls
In faint lines of glory
On inexorable walls.

O I have bruised my fingers
Vainly upon these bars,
What devil loosed that shutter
To taunt my soul with stars?

TO W. J. B.

Darwin sleeps serenely
In his narrow bed,
Unconscious of his failure Mistaken, and misled.

A quarter of a century
He took to spin his yarn,
Too long, when you remember
It isn't worth a darn.

In spite of all the evidence Dug up, and jotted down,
We know he was mistaken.

THE MINSTREL.

I am a wandering minstrel lad,
And few the ears my ditties find;
More beautiful are some, but none
So much in happiness designed.

I dine beside some whispering tree,
And sleep where'er the starlight plays;
I sing my ballads to the air,
And have no care for coming days.

I sip my draughts of happiness—
With dregs of joy my cup is strong;
The winds are light! The skies are Sweet.

I sing because I love the song!

TO—

By Herman D. Hancock.
As circling years paint silver hairs
Where others used to be,
And paint a furrowed, wrinkled brow
On those who then on me:

As nearer draws my allotted span
Of three score years and ten,
I want to sit and think of you—
Of our mistakes, and then

With thoughts as a companion
To wear the common gown;
For God sends each a nightly robe
As day her shades draw down.

And I'll conjure there before me Beauties I have never known
And I'll garner there from dreamland
What I have never sown;

For the bliss of love required,
And my dream of you complete
Will make happiness eternal And life's roughest road seem

Oh! Let my dreaming be not broken
Nor disturb my wonder-thought
But let fancy's beauty blending
With realities long sought.

MOTHEE.

By Charles A. Jackson, Jr.
When the world is as bitter as ashes
And dust,
And the hope of the best things
Forlorn;

When I've sinned in my ideals, and I've failed in my trust,
And I'm cursing the day I was Born;

As I think of the thoughts that once were so fine,
And of what I aspired to do,
My heart wells full for that Mother of mine.

Forgiving, inspiring anew,
My soul turns home and I inwardly yearn

For the face of that sweet old girl:
To her phantom kiss my cheeks upturn.

And I thrill to that kiss—that pearl.

And, however, yet hoping, as it wings through the blue
On my heart this message is read,
"Mother, forgive me, and try me new."

"You've long been forgiven," is said.
Pardoned, before asking by that Mother love.

I faint would kneel at her knee,
And pray for the peace of the Heavenly dove.

Prayers once so soothing to me,
Since its groping and rev're, my soul is at rest.

My ideals and faith revive;
Aiming at naught, as she wished, but the best.

I once more set out to strive.

Emory University Library Given Larger Appropriation; More Volumes to Be Bought

New Assistant Added to Staff to Care for Increased Demands on Store of Books.

BY R. F. COCHRAN.

Increase of the annual appropriation for maintenance of the Emory University library from $500 to $2,000 has made it possible to add over 300 new volumes to the present stock.

Miss Margaret Jenison, librarian, states that the new volumes will be largely confined to educational subjects, with special emphasis upon psychology. An effort is being made to have these books on the shelves in time for the summer session, and a new assistant is also being added to the force to aid during the summer term, since intensive work during this time always crowds the library and overworks the librarian and her assistants.

Miss Selma Wacker will continue her duties as assistant librarian until the fall term, when she will leave for Converse college in Spartanburg, S. C.

Miss Jenison says that Emory has one of the most complete college libraries in the state.

9TH WARD COMMITTEE MEETS NEXT TUESDAY

BY F. C. SULLIVAN.

The Ninth Ward Development league executive committee will meet next Tuesday night at the home of W. T. Buchanan, 1142 DeKalb avenue, at which time President John M. Miller will read committee appointments for the year.

The new committee to be announced at that time will go forward with projects sponsored by the league, among which are included extension of Euclid, Whitford and McLendon avenues; improvement and development of Candler park; more shade trees for streets in the ward; improved car service and lighting facilities, and a city-owned building for the Inman Park branch of the Carnegie library.

A project now under way is new paving on Edgewood avenue between McLendon and DeKalb avenues.

ON BEING A SENIOR

EVER SINCE the days of long ago
WHEN I WAS a barefoot lad,
I HAVE WONDERED how it would feel

TO BE A college senior.
I DON'T BELONG to that genus
AND I CAN truthfully say THAT I DON'T feel like
I THOUGHT I would.

I USED to think
AND I GUESS it doesn't MAKE SO MUCH difference
ANYWAY 'cause

I SEE now
THAT those things
DO NOT "make the Senior."
I USED to wonder
HOW I WOULD decide which company.

OUT OF all those CLAMORING for me,
WOULD GET my services
AFTER GRADUATION.
SAID TO SAY, I HAVEN'T BEEN pestered by A LARGE number of men
TRYING to sign me up.

I AM, dear folks,
I AM about to become CONVINCED that I have JUST BEGUN to commence.
AS "commencement" signifies
YOU ARE welcome.

Masonic Club Much Amused By Impersonator

Members Indorse City Aid For Tech School of Commerce.

BY GLENN R. WALKER.

Grady F. Good, the original male impersonator of Madam Fatima Beladonna, created wild excitement by his first appearance in this new role at the regular Wednesday luncheon of the Atlanta Masonic club.

His catchy song and eccentric dances were received with tremendous applause all during the rendition.

George F. Eubanks, the president of the club, opened the festivities by his usual "Boys, Howdy," and immediately turning it over to the entertainment committee.

The program was furnished by non-resident members of the Masonic club, Oscar Maurer, the club's pianist, furnished the music during the luncheon.

Clarence Wall gave a tenor solo that captivated the crowd. Recently he was complimented by Gigli of the Metropolitan Opera company, on the excellent quality of his voice. Following him came Green B. Adair, who sang "Sweet Mamma" in such a manner that he was elected without opposition as the Masonic club's original comedian, and as a token of his appreciation he sang "Lovin' Sam" in a way that would win on any vaudeville stage.

Grady E. Goode, the male impersonator of Madam Fatima Beladonna, the original left over and possibly left out of recent grand opera, created a tremendous amount of applause. His double dipped color of black coat and top hat, a costume of royal Fleming red and adorned by a corset of carrots was by far the most gorgeous of its kind ever appearing in Atlanta.

T. W. Neal, head of the School of Commerce of Georgia Tech, asked that the club indorse the movement on foot to secure aid from the city council to help carry on this valuable department. It was voted unanimously to pledge its support to the school in its undertakings.

Next Wednesday, May 23, the club will be entertained by John DuPre and his torch-bearing incerts. All Masons are invited to attend.

The closing address was made by Mrs. R. Ward, grand matron of the Order of the Eastern Star. She praised the Masons for the good work they were doing through the entire state in all civic enterprises.

EMORY MARKSMEN TO GET SWEATERS

Asa Candler Gives Money for Purchase — Letters Are Awarded to Rifle Team Members.

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

Advices have been received at the Emory university from O. T. C. headquarters by Major Louis A. Falligant that the Emory university rifle team will have regular university letters and sweaters. Asa G. Candler, chairman of the Emory university board of trustees, has so informed the department, according to a report made by Major Falligant.

"The team was voted the letter by the athletic committee, but no provision was made for the purchase of sweaters in the appropriation budget. Mr. Candler has supplemented the offer of the council, and the marksmen who have been firing for the university in the fourth corps area matches will receive both the "E" and sweaters.

The team was active this season, as was attested to by the fact that the Emory team was selected to represent the fourth corps area in the national matches with Tech, Florida and North Carolina. This selection comes as a result of several weeks of competitive firing with all the schools in the area and it is considered a distinction to be selected for the national match.

Firing in the preliminary matches is done on the Connolly target, while firing in the intercorps meet is always on targets of the National Rifle association. The Emory team has stacked up good scores in all competitions, averaging over 91.

Letters were presented to members of the team by Dr. Plato D. Ham Wednesday afternoon at the formation, and the sweaters will be presented Wednesday afternoon by Mr. Candler at the last formation of the year at the university.

Those receiving the letters and sweaters are: Bancroft, Brown, Chalker, Clement, Cochran, Curtis, Field, McGregor, Shirah and Turner.

Your Cooperation Is Wanted in Carrying Out Constructive Plan for Solution of Atlanta's Present and Future Transportation Problem

THE LIFE BLOOD of a city is made up of people--just folks. In order that a city may grow and prosper, its life blood must be able to circulate with comparative ease and by some dependable method. Therefore, a system of transportation to carry people to and from their work and play may well be called as important to a city as the blood circulatory system is to a human being.

The Georgia Railway & Power Company realizes its responsibility to provide Atlanta with a transportation system that will always be as adequate, dependable and important an adjunct to this City as the blood circulation is to any healthy youngster who expects to grow.

IN ORDER to meet this responsibility the Company has prepared a constructive plan for solving the present and future transportation problem of Atlanta. The plan has been filed with the City Clerk for presentation to the Mayor and General Council next Monday, May 21. In confidence that the general public is interested in a plan of such importance to the Atlanta of Today as well as the Atlanta of Tomorrow, a summary of the petition is presented here for your information.

Desires to Furnish Best Possible Service

The Company proposes what it believes is a constructive program and one which it hopes and believes will benefit the public generally by making it possible for the company to prepare to furnish better, safer, quicker and more extensive transportation service in the future.

There Is No Desire to Dodge Responsibility

The Company has no desire to dodge or evade a particle of its responsibility. That responsibility is to transport the people of Atlanta in pursuit of their daily occupations, in as reasonably comfortable, safe, regular and fast manner as the traffic conditions and complications on the streets will permit and at the lowest rate of fare that will support the service.

Handicapped in Effort To Develop Service

The Company is now handicapped in its efforts to carry on and develop transportation service. Automobiles are taking away a great portion of the natural growth of the street railway.

Unregulated jitney competition has been making heavy inroads on the Company's revenue.

Traffic congestion and lack of enforcement of traffic regulations are increasing accidents and making it unduly expensive and difficult to give good service.

The operating expenses are increasing to the extent that in 1922 they were 72 per cent of the gross revenue as compared with 50 per cent in 1909.

These conditions make the street car service now being furnished unprofitable. Extensions of tracks and the inauguration of other forms of transportation are impossible, no matter how much the Company desires to furnish the service, because no capital can be obtained for the purpose.

The program submitted in order to enable the Company to furnish a comprehensive system of adequate transportation is as follows:

1. Improvements to the street railway system:

- (a) General improvement in track, cars and electric system.
 - (b) Speeding up of cars and general improvement of service as a basis for increased travel.
2. Organization of a system of bus transportation to supplement the street railroad transportation system.
3. Increased sale and use of tickets by the sale of three for twenty cents, instead of books of fifteen for one dollar.

(1) Improvements to the Street Railway System

Before asking greater public support and cooperation, by very great effort and strong assurance that this support and cooperation would be given the Company, it finally succeeded in providing over $1,300,000.00 for general improvements during 1923.

(2) Bus Transportation System

It will be many years probably before the Company can extend service by building tracks into developing areas. Those areas will in future require some form of transportation. The motor bus affords the opportunity to provide this. This company stands ready to provide this method of transportation to meet the demands of the public for service to the extent that the transportation system as a whole can support itself. For such service to meet the needs of the Public, it must be responsible, dependable, backed by ample capital and thoroughly regulated.

(3) Sale of Three Tickets For Twenty Cents

The purpose of this is to increase the sale of tickets thereby eliminating some of the delays caused by the fact that at present most of the car riders pay cash fare and the loading of cars is delayed making change. Increased use of tickets will speed up the cars.

Cooperation Asked in Two Particulars

The cooperation of the city is asked in two particulars, namely:

1. Regulation of jitneys by enforcement of existing laws, and the passage and enforcement of all regulations necessary to prevent unfair competition.

A community which has invited the investment of vast sums of money in providing reliable and permanent transportation service should in its own interest protect the service from unfair competition.

City Loses on Every Jitney

The City actually loses money through the operation of every jitney on the streets of Atlanta. The money the jitneys take in is taken away from the street railway company and lessens its ability to maintain its service and prevents extensions. The City also loses on what the jitneys take in the two per cent tax which the street railway company pays the City on its gross receipts, and which becomes three per cent by the contract in 1925. Assuming that a jitney takes in $10.00 per day, or $3,600.00 a year, and that that amount is taken away from the street railway Company, the city loses two per cent per annum on $3,600.00, or $72.00 cash loss per year on each jitney on the item of gross receipts tax alone.

Street cars cannot be profitably operated on the same streets with unregulated and untaxed jitneys.

The problem now to be solved by the public of Atlanta is whether it is best in the public interest to cooperate with and support the present street railroad system and the plan herewith proposed for expansion of transportation service or whether to permit and encourage unregulated jitney operation.

It is much more to the public interest to solve this problem rightly now than to let it drag on with deteriorating service.

It is manifestly contrary to public interest to permit unregulated jitney competition which injures the street railway because the city can not grow or prosper without street railway service.

Everybody Delayed by Congestion of Traffic

2. Traffic Regulations:

250,000 passengers use the street cars daily. They are the people whose time is their chief asset. The loss of time means more to them than to any other class of our citizens. They are being subjected to ever increasing delays owing to the fact that proper regulation of traffic is not enforced.

First-class street railway service satisfactory to the public can not be furnished on Atlanta's streets without rigid enforcement of proper regulation of traffic. Automobile users, truck users and street car riders will all benefit from real enforcement of traffic regulations. The public will to regulate traffic in the interest of all classes of the public must be aroused. The individual must be convinced that it is to his personal interest to strictly observe the traffic ordinances because they save his time, whether he uses an automobile, a truck or a street car.

What Is Best For the Public?

A first-class, adequate transportation system is one of the greatest assets a city can have. There is no method by which transportation service to handle passengers in volume can be furnished except by rail transportation. Public cooperation and support in enforcing regulation of traffic is necessary to provide a first-class adequate transportation system.

The question is simply, is it or not good policy to cooperate with and support the vast street railroad investment and by all proper means see that it earns a fair return on that investment, because if for no other reasons, that is the only way to get more and better street railway service? This petition deals with the future, and the plan it proposes is designed to take care of the needs of the public for transportation service in the future. In order that Atlanta may reach a population of 500,000, a goal which we all are working for and confidently expect to reach, it is essential to keep the transportation systems fully abreast of the growth and sufficient to meet the necessities of the increased population, and at least twenty-five million dollars of new capital will be necessary to furnish adequate transportation for 500,000 people.

SINCERE COOPERATION on the part of the City, the Public and the Company on a constructive program of the character herewith proposed would be of untold benefit to the City. The Company wishes to cooperate with the Civic organizations, the City Officials and the General Public, and herewith pledges such cooperation on its part. Your cooperation is wanted and your comment on this plan will be welcomed.

Miss Elizabeth Holleman was hostess at a pretty tea from 5 to 6 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon in compliment to the faculty and graduating class of Washington seminary, at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. T. Holleman, in Druid Hills. The spacious reception apartments of the home were adorned with quantities of spring flowers in yellow and white, the class colors. Receiving with the hostess were the

Miss Ellen Ramey Is Honored With Evening Bridge Party

A lovely compliment to Miss Ellen Ramey, a bride-elect, was Miss Mary Barnett's evening bridge party on Wednesday at her home on Piedmont avenue. Three tables of players were invited, the guests including the members of Miss Ramey's bridal party and a few close friends. The home was decorated in spring flowers in the pastel shades. After the game a buffet supper was served.

SOCIAL ITEMS

Mrs. R. F. Stringer, of Monroe, Ga., is spending several days in Atlanta, with her two daughters, Mrs. George Leveritt and Mrs. Alonzo Dobbs. She is also visiting her sister, Mrs. J. A. McChesney, of Decatur. En route home, Mrs. Stringer will spend the week-end with her son, Fred Stringer, in Social Circle. Mrs. Stringer has been the recipient of many social attentions while in the city.

Mrs. Willis Jones will return from New York on Sunday where she has been spending a week at the Hotel Plaza.

Mrs. J. B. Lapsley, who has been the guest of her sisters, Mrs. L. B. Daniel and Miss Abby C. Butler, at 1176 Piedmont avenue, left Sunday afternoon for Little Rock, Ark., to visit her daughter, Mrs. L. Griffin. Mrs. Lapsley is a former resident of Atlanta and was a guest at the affairs attendant upon National Federation week.

Mrs. William Shallenberger has returned from a visit of several weeks in New York city.

The friends of John M. Green, president Atlanta Sunday School association, will regret to know he is ill at the Georgia Baptist hospital.

Mrs. William Haines Mills is recovering at her home in North Boulevard park from a recent illness.

Miss Katherine Irene Shirley is spending several weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Shirley, at Olga, Fla.

Mrs. Clyde Wooten and her daughter, Miss Lanier Wooten, of Augusta, have returned home after a visit of several weeks to Mrs. William Lanier, and her mother, Mrs. J. J. Wagoner. Little Miss Wooten is a namesake of Mrs. Lanier and was christened at the First Presbyterian church in Augusta on Sunday.

Mrs. John H. Andrews has returned from a four months' stay in Arizona and California.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest H. Carroll arrived in Atlanta Sunday to find Mrs. W. R. Carroll for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh L. McKee, of Atlanta, sailed on the White Star liner Pittsburgh, Tuesday, for a tour of Europe.

Among the Atlantans stopping at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York are Miss Julia Brady, Mrs. Mary Evin Gillilan and R. E. Donnelly.

Mrs. Mary Brown and Miss Frances Brown left yesterday for an extended stay in New York, after which they will visit points of interest in the west. They will return to Atlanta in September.

May Day Fete Will Take Place At Wingfield

The May Fete of the Sheltering Arms will take place Saturday afternoon, May 19, at Wingfield, the lovely residence of Ex-Governor and Mrs. John Marshall Slaton on Peachtree road. This is an annual pleasure afforded the mothers and children cared for by this wonderful charity, the Sheltering Arms, and several hundred invitations have been issued to the members and friends of the association, thereby centering a large social interest.

Mrs. Slaton, the hostess, will be assisted by the ex-presidents of the Sheltering Arms and members of the executive board, including Mesdames Preston Arkwright, Frank Logan, W. S. Elkin, Bolling Jones, Robert C. Alston, George Howard, William Kiser, Gilbert Fraser, E. E. Dallis, W. D. Ellis, Jr., Walter Colquitt, Frank West. Executive officers: Mrs. Marion Harper, Mrs. Ben Lee Crew, Mrs. Eugene R. Black, Sr., Mrs. John F. MacDougall, Mrs. Brooks Morgan, Mrs. Robert Harvey, Mrs. Joel Hurt, Jr., Mrs. Philip Alston, Mrs. Lee Jordan, Mrs. C. E. Seiple, Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, Mrs. James E. Hickey.

The guests will be seated on the lawn near the formal gardens for a brief but beautiful program arranged by the kindergarten teachers (under the direction of Miss Alice Hentz and Mrs. P. G. Hannahan) to include the Maypole dance and a flower play in costume. Mrs. William Claer Spiker will conclude the program with special dances by several charming children of her classes.

Refreshments will be served at attractive booths under the management of the young ladies of the Cornelia Moore and John Barclay Nursery boards, with Mrs. Joel Hurt, Jr., and Mrs. Philip Alston, chairman. Mrs. C. E. Seiple is chairman of general arrangements, and Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore and Mrs. James E. Hickey, with the services of Little Miss Jacqueline Moore and eight of her small friends, will distribute quaint grab bags of candy and toys to the children of the nurseries.

A committee of Boy and Girl Scouts will assist in showing the guests to their places; and the Tech band, under the leadership of Mr. William Moore, will furnish music after the completion of the program.

The rainy day boxes, usually distributed or collected at this annual fete of the Sheltering Arms, will be replaced this year by the unique plan of a rummage check or tag, which has been adopted in an effort to realize a fund for the babies without any expense to the individual member. A letter of explanation is being sent out with this check, and the entire plan promises to be most successful. The articles asked for are not to be used for the nurseries, but sold at a future date for the benefit of the new building fund.

There will be no charges or sales of any kind at the May fete. It is purely a social affair for the mothers and children of the nurseries, and the members and friends of the association. Any member may bring a guest by notifying the invitation committee, that seats may be provided.

Alpha Sigma Pi Will Give Dance.

The members of the University school and Boys' High chapter of the Alpha Sigma Pi fraternity will entertain at a formal dance on Friday evening, May 25, at Brookhaven country club. Members at University school are Harry Plaster, Franklin Hall, Charles Harmon, J. T. Holoman, William Charles Nunnally, Bender Parsons, George Walsh, Frank Miller, George Forrester, Alfred Floyd. The Boys' High chapter includes Stephen Belmont, Kelsa Boland, John Campbell, Jack Dennis, William Mansfield, Fred Minnich, William Minnich, George Mohr, Arthur Merrill, Reggie O'Dwyer, John Sheek, Guy Lawford, William Clayton, John Murray, Harry Thompson, William Ward, Morris Evans, Henry Johnson and Dunbar Bailey. The chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. Guy and Mrs. W. F. Minnich, Jr., and Mrs. Frank K. Boland, Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Belmont, Mr. and Mrs. Asa G. Candler, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. George Forrester and others.

Rags and Riches Pageant Postponed.

The spectacular pageant which was to have been given this afternoon at Peters Park by the Junior Music club, has been postponed on account of the rainstorm Tuesday afternoon. It will take place on Monday afternoon next at 5 o'clock. Tickets bought for the Thursday performance will, of course, be good for next Monday, May 21.

Miss Elizabeth Wilson Will Leave for New York

MISS ELIZABETH WILSON

The departure of Miss Elizabeth Wilson May 19 for New York, where she has accepted a position in the educational department of The Woman's Press, official publication of the National Young Women's Christian association, marks a loss to Atlanta's social service workers and college women in whose interests Miss Wilson has been closely identified. The publication covers the work of the national body throughout the world as well as the United States and is especially devoted to the work of women on nationally and internationally. She is unusually attractive, very talented and one of the most intellectual young girls in Atlanta.

DAILY CALENDAR OF SOCIAL EVENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Berry Collins will compliment Mr. and Mrs. John E. Smith with a dinner party at their home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Mrs. Wilkins Cagle will give a bridge party this afternoon at the Druid Hills golf club in honor of Mrs. Samuel Vinerman, of Greenville, S. C., who is visiting her at the Georgian Terrace.

The Bessie Tift alumnae of Atlanta will meet for luncheon at the Daffodil tea room at 2 o'clock.

College Park Woman's Club Elects Officers Wednesday

The last regular meeting for the year of the College Park Woman's club was held Wednesday afternoon in the Masonic hall in College Park. This meeting brought to a close one of the most successful years of the club from the point of view of work accomplished, as well as for funds raised for future work. Plans have been made for the building of a house for the club.

Mrs. C. A. Allee, chairman of legislative committee, gave an interesting paper in which she discussed the plans and aims of the club. She stressed the changes in the child labor laws of the state, and also the fact that the country should have uniform divorce laws. Mrs. Allee explained that there are several clubs composed of women which are working with these ends in view.

Members of the club are planning to continue exhibitions of flowers, which have brought many words of approval in the past, and to make these floral attractions even better than they have been in the past. It is planned to give a show the year round for each flower of the collection.

as each flower comes into bloom in season. Members of the Cox college student body gave several selections during the afternoon. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Dan C. Lyle; first vice president, Mrs. Oscar Palmer; second vice president, Mrs. C. F. Holt; treasurer, Mrs. Thornton; recording secretary, Mrs. L. O. Freeman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. Chase; librarian, Mrs. J. B. Butler; and auditor, Mrs. Ray.

Atlanta Council P-T. A. To Meet Friday

The council of Atlanta Parent-Teacher association will meet Friday, May 18, at 3 o'clock at the chamber of commerce building. The executive board will meet at 2:30 in the assembly room. An attractive program has been arranged by Mrs. R. M. Walker, chairman, and a full attendance is desired.

Women Present First Monument on the Bankhead Highway

On Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, there was unveiled at Tupelo, Miss., the first monument presented by women on the Bankhead national highway. This monument, in the form of a great boulder, carrying a large bronze plate bearing suitable inscription, marks a spot where De Soto camped on his westward journey when he discovered the Mississippi river. The monument is the gift of the Colonial Dames of Mississippi, who sent invitations to prominent people throughout the United States. The ceremony of unveiling and presentation was impressive and simple.

The mayor of Tupelo responded for the city. J. A. Rountree, director general, responded for the Bankhead highway association, and Mrs. John Rowles Jones, chairman of the Mississippi division, responded for the women's commission of the highway. Telegrams were read from Mrs. Albert Thornton, president, who was unable to attend on account of conflicting engagements. At the earlier convention in Greenville, S. C., the week of April 16, many reports were made by members of the woman's commission to the states that the highway traverse.

The reports of Georgia, Mississippi, District of Columbia and California were outstanding, and showed wonderful work accomplished. In appreciation of the women's work, resolutions were adopted extending hearty thanks to Mrs. Thornton and all members of the woman's commission for the splendid work done. National attention has been attracted by the importance and value of this work. The vice-president and chairman of various states show that 90 per cent of the Bankhead highway is already under construction. Over half of the highway has been marked so that tourists can travel over the state.

Topics Club Elects Officers

The Modern Topics club met Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. R. N. Fickett, Jr., and planned for the annual breakfast, which will be given at the East Lake Country club, Thursday, May 24.

The study course on Georgia was conducted at this meeting and a more intensive study of the noted men and women of Georgia planned for the ensuing year. Election of officers, which preceded the social part of the meeting, resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Ben Padgett; first vice president, Mrs. T. D. Body; second vice president, Mrs. Hugh Howell; recording secretary, Miss W. S. Abernethy; treasurer, Mrs. Hardy Padgett; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Fred Hadley; custodian, Mrs. L. D. Sanders; and press chairman, Mrs. McLemore.

Miss Scott Is Hostess

Miss Clara Louise Scott was hostess at an informal bridge-tena Wednesday at her home on West Peachtree street, in compliment to Miss Rebecca Hill, the guest of Miss Jane Sams. The rooms where the game was played were attractively decorated with spring flowers. The guests included a few close friends of the hostess.

Miss Bessie Cully Is Hostess

Mrs. Clarence Coppedge was hostess at a tea Wednesday afternoon in compliment to her guest, Miss Bessie Cully, of San Francisco, at the Atlanta Woman's club.

The decorations of the banquet hall were California poppies and flaming wisteria, artistically arranged in silver vases and baskets.

Receiving with Mrs. Coppedge and Miss Cully were Mrs. B. M. Boykin, Mrs. Robert Grier, Mrs. Cecil Walkley and her guest, Mrs. H. Steele Partridge, of Mobile, Ala.

Mrs. Cully was gowned in peacock blue crepe with a black picture hat. Mrs. Coppedge wore a gown of amber colored crepe heavily beaded with a flesh colored hat of horsehair braid trimmed with amber flowers.

Mrs. Boykin wore a becoming gown of gold cloth draped with brown lace, and a lavender hat.

Mrs. Grier was gowned in gold colored Georgette with hat to match. Mrs. Walkley wore a gown of blue Georgette and a corsage of sweetheart roses and forget-me-nots.

Mrs. Partridge wore cocoa brown crepe heavily beaded, and a corsage of sweetheart roses and sweet peas. About 100 guests called during the afternoon.

Piano Pupils In Recital

A delightful program of piano and vocal music will be given by the pupils of Mrs. Ethel Wolf, on Friday evening, May 18, at 8:15 o'clock, Masonic hall, College Park.

Songs of the seasons, consisting of solos and choruses will be given in costume, representing the different flowers and birds of the year.

Master Chester Kitchings will assist in this program. A cordial invitation is extended every one desiring to attend.

Mrs. C. W. Battle Is Honor Guest

Mrs. W. W. Banks entertained informally at tea Wednesday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. C. W. Battle, of Culoden. The guests included sixteen former school friends of the honoree.

Mrs. Battle was gowned in black lace veiling satin. Mrs. Banks was gowned in French blue Georgette crepe, embroidered in head design.

Miss Kendrick Is Hostess

Miss Gladys Palmer, of Charlotte, N. C., who is the guest of Miss Rebecca Harmon, was honor guest at the bridge-luncheon given Wednesday by Miss Jean Kendrick at her home at Fort McPherson.

The reception rooms of the home were artistically decorated with spring flowers. The luncheon table was covered with a Philippine embroidered cover and held in the center a vase of American beauty roses.

The top score prize was a hand-painted doria, and the consolation prize was a French novelty.

Miss Kendrick wore a gown of Nile green crepe. Miss Palmer was gowned in blue crepe, heavily beaded.

Miss Harmon wore a gown of brown crepe. The guests included Miss Harmon, Miss Palmer, Miss Jennie Lee Denison, Miss Emmie Nixon, Miss Alice Smith and Miss Sara Smith.

Mrs. Shepard Is Hostess

Miss Mary Hagerthy, of Augusta, Maine, who is the guest of Mrs. R. C. Darby, was honor guest at the bridge-luncheon given Wednesday by Mrs. Virgil Shepard at her home on Walker terrace.

The rooms where the game was played were decorated with mountain laurel, and the same beautiful flowers decorated the luncheon table.

Mrs. Shepard received her guests wearing a gown of gray crepe. Eight guests were invited to meet Miss Hagerthy.

Mrs. W. W. Blackman was hostess Tuesday at a bridge-luncheon for this charming visitor, given at the Central city club.

Mrs. R. C. Darby will entertain for her guest next Tuesday.

Mrs. Bert Owens Honors Miss Ramey

Mrs. Bert Owens entertained Wednesday at a bridge-tena in compliment to Miss Ellen Ramey, a bride-elect of June, at her lovely home in Kirkwood.

Spring flowers were used in the decoration of the reception rooms. The honor guest was presented a piece of lingerie and the winners of top score and consolation were presented Japanese novelties. After the game tea was served.

Miss Ramey was gowned in a gray crepe with Harding blue draperies and worn with a black and white hat.

Mrs. Owens wore a gown of black crepe, combined with black lace.

University Women Have Meeting at Druid Hills Club

The Atlanta chapter of the American Association of University Women met at the Druid Hills Golf club Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. E. K. Large presided.

The association contributed to the Agnes Glenn memorial scholarship fund: listened to a report from Mrs. Lively on the University club house in Washington; voted to aid Miss Moran, of the state university, in the effort she is making to secure a woman's dormitory at the state university and voted also to work for a larger appropriation for Tech.

The meeting closed with a charming program in which Miss Evelyn Lovett gave three old English ballads, after which tea was served on the terrace.

The University women will hold their meetings during next winter at the Atlanta Woman's club.

Miss Carlan Weds Joseph Candell

Homer, Ga., May 16.—A wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends was that of Miss Jessie Mae Carlan, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Carlan, of Banks county, and Joseph J. Candell, a prominent farmer, also of Banks county, which took place at noon Sunday, May 16, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gillespie, at Homer.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. A. Bartlett, of Prentiss, N. C., in the presence of a few friends and relatives. Roses and plants were the chief decorations used.

The bride was lovely in her wedding gown of midnight blue crepe lorraine, with hat, cape and accessories to match.

The groom is well and favorably known. Immediately after the ceremony, they left for Atlanta, where they will spend a few days before returning to the beautiful country home of the groom, where they will reside.

LaGrange Alumnae Elect Officers

The LaGrange College Alumnae association held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. James Buchanan.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. James Higley, president; Mrs. Gordon Stipe, vice president; Miss Florence Baxter, recording secretary; Miss Idella Delah, treasurer, and Mrs. Thomas Campbell, secretary.

After the business had been disposed of, the club enjoyed a social hour. The hostess was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Throver.

Rummage Sale On Saturday

A rummage sale will be conducted by the Girls' Friendly society of St. Luke's church, at No. 157 Peters street, Saturday, May 19.

All who will give rummage or help at the sale please phone Mrs. Dr. Wilmer, Hemlock 2467.

Rebekah Lodge To Give Party

Deatur Rebekah lodge, No. 31, I. O. O. F., will give an apron party this evening at the new I. O. O. F. hall, corner North Candler street and East Howard avenue, Deatur.

Aprons will be furnished at the lodge room to those who have none.

North Carolina Society Gives Annual Banquet Saturday

North Carolina Society for Men, of which Dr. Claude Hughes is president, will give their annual banquet Saturday, May 19, at the Druid Hills Golf club.

About this time last year a woman's auxiliary was organized, and this year marks the second time they have joined in celebrating this period with the men's society. It is one of the most notable days of the whole year to North Carolinians (May 20), in which they recognize the signing of the Declaration of Independence at Charlotte nearly 14 months before the declaration at Philadelphia.

The principal address of the evening will be by Dr. Ben R. Lacy, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of Atlanta. He will be followed by Mrs. D. F. Stevenson, president of the woman's auxiliary, whose subject will be the progress of the auxiliary, made during the year of its existence, and who will make mention of some of the plans the women have arranged for the administration to follow.

Mrs. R. A. Shope, secretary of the auxiliary, will talk on North Carolina compared with other states. There will be several piano solos by Laurence Everhart, Jr., who has twice been winner of the gold medal for piano playing in Georgia. Miss Minna Hecker, who has a beautiful soprano voice, will sing, accompanied by Miss Allen, who will give piano solos. One of the attractive features will be the music furnished by the two little daughters of Dr. N. E. Morgan, Margaret, 10 years old, and Elizabeth, only 6. They both play the piano and violin, and have attracted a great deal of attention by their playing as they are so young and talented.

This is regarded as a home-coming event by the North Carolinians. At this banquet the beautiful North Carolina flag, which was displayed at the luncheon the auxiliary gave to the visiting delegates to the biennial from North Carolina last week, will be presented by the men's society through Colonel T. B. Hildon, a distinguished North Carolinian, to the women's auxiliary. It will be received by one of the members of the auxiliary and accepted by Mrs. D. F. Stevenson, president of the auxiliary. Mrs. Richard Moore was appointed to arrange the purchase of this flag, which is very handsome, and to secure the large number of beautiful silk flags of smaller dimensions which adorned the tables and walls of the club for the luncheon last Friday.

Seven o'clock is the hour appointed for the banquet, and the lists for reservations close Friday at 11 o'clock. Invitations have been extended to several hundred North Carolinians, but any who have possibly been overlooked will please communicate with the president, Dr. Claude Hughes, Walnut 2455.

Facts About Child-Birth

An eminent physician has shown to thousands of expectant mothers how to be free from dread, and from much of the suffering which many mothers experience for months, right up to the moment when the little one arrives!

Mrs. Wm. Washington, 107 Louise Ave., Nashville, Tenn., says: "There is positively no woman on earth that would be without 'Mother's Friend' during expectancy if she only knew the value of comfort."

"Mother's Friend" is externally applied to the region of the abdomen, back and hips. It relieves the tension on nerves and ligaments as month after month. Finally, it makes child-birth a joy instead of a painful dread.

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Mrs. Wm. Washington, R.A.-47, Atlanta, Ga., for a free wonderful book containing information every expectant mother should have. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

NATIONAL Sterling Silver WEEK May 14-19

THE JUNE BRIDE will inherit Sterling Silver that brings with it long memories of her little girlhood and her grandmother's home. She will receive pieces of modern Sterling Silver reflecting her own day and its needs in its shining satin surface. Every generation adds to the legacy of Sterling Silver which no amount of daily use can harm.

Sterling Silver carries in its trade mark the Government's guarantee that it is purer silver even than the Goddess of Liberty's dollar.

Confer with us concerning your gift to the June Bride or the girl graduate. We shall be glad to show you an infinite variety of designs specially exhibited during Sterling Silver Week. You may match the family silver if it is an old standard pattern, or you may have a new design destined to take its place with the classic Silver of another generation.

PROBLEM SCHOOL EMORY VENTURE AS SUMMER CLASS

Of unusual interest is the announcement by Dr. Ralph E. Wager that Emory university will conduct a "School for Problem Cases" from June 14 to July 25. The term "problem cases" has reference to children who show unusual general ability or disability, and to those who show a marked talent or special weakness in some particular subject.

Two of the foremost experts in the country will have supervision of the children entered in this school. Miss Delia E. Kibbe, director of remedial education, School of Education, University of Chicago, will be in charge. Professor Schachne Isaacs, of Johns Hopkins university, will give each child a comprehensive psychological examination. Professor Isaacs is a pupil of Simon, of Paris, who is a co-author of the well-known Simon-Binet tests.

After a thorough examination, each child will be given individual instruction. Courses of classroom and playground activity will be outlined, ac-

Mrs. Trotti Gives Bridge-Tea for Bride-Elect

Mrs. Hugh Trotti entertained at a bridge-ten on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Miss Caroline Montgomery.

Yellow and lavender were used as a color motif.

The score cards were hand-painted brides, tied with yellow and lavender ribbons.

Lemon lilies, sweet peas in lavender and purple and ferns were arranged in silver baskets tied with lavender tulle.

The tea table was covered with a cloth of filer lace and French embroidery. A large silver basket, tied with lavender tulle and holding lemon lilies, ferns and lavender sweet peas, graced the center of the table. Encircling this were yellow tapers in silver candlesticks and silver compots held yellow and lavender bon-bons.

The refreshments carried out the yellow and lavender color-motif.

After the games little Louis Groth, dressed as a violet, entered, drawing a large violet by the stem. The violet concealed a miscellaneous shower for the bride-elect.

Miss Montgomery wore a beautiful gown of flesh colored georgette with an orchid hat and a corsage of pink sweet peas.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Row Jones, who wore blue beaded georgette, and Miss Kirby Wiffingham, who wore a gown of henna flint crepe, with a hat to match. Those invited were Miss Caroline Montgomery, Miss Mary Wiffingham, Miss Louise Smith, Miss Katie Hask Houston, Miss Nell Candler, Miss Myrtle Stephenson, Miss Harriet Mack, Miss Jane Jackson, Miss Beatrice Winslow, Miss Kirby Wiffingham, Miss Marion Weekes, Miss Marie Pearce, Mrs. John Montgomery, Mrs. T. Alumni Carnival Will Be Large Event of Friday

A day long to be remembered by the children of Atlanta will be Friday, May 18, when a carnival will be given on the lawn of Mrs. Clyde King, 1010 Ponce de Leon avenue, beginning at 3 o'clock by the Atlanta Agnes Scott Alumni club.

Many of the amusements were planned by the women for the children's entertainment. There will be a merry-go-round, slides and games played with the children by people trained in that line.

In gaily bedecked booths girls with bright colored costumes will sell popcorn, candy, drinks, and ice cream cones. Many marvellous side-shows will form a midway to delight every heart. Wonderful prizes are to be drawn from fish ponds and grab-bags. Real ponies led by gaily dressed jockeys can be ridden by all the little folks for 5 cents a ride. Every amusement on the lawn lot will be 5 cents and the general admission fee of 10 cents will enable everybody to see the Agnes Scott girls give several numbers from their May day dances. This will be a real treat, especially for the grown-ups.

French Club To Meet.

The Alliance Francaise will hold its regular meeting Thursday afternoon, May 17, at 7:30 o'clock at the residence of Miss Doucette Larendon, in Kirkwood.

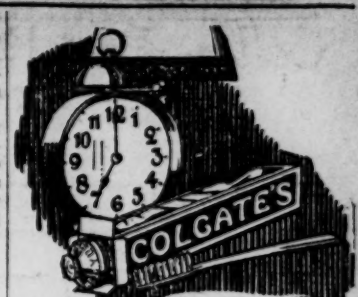

Last Meeting Of Coterie Club.

The last meeting of the Twentieth Century coterie will be held at the home of Mrs. Theodore H. Jack, of Emory university, on May 24, at 3:30 o'clock. Members will please note the change of date.

The Year's Best Offer of Large Oriental Rugs

Nothing of equal value has been offered in at least twelve years. Nothing to match it in the near future, as far as we can see.

211 Choice Persian and Chinese Rugs

$125.00 $150.00 $250.00

Sizes up to 7x9 ft. Sizes up to 8.9x10.0 ft. Sizes up to 8x14 ft.

Do one big thing, and it attracts other big things to you. Last week we sold hundreds of small orientals. It was a wonderful operation. Its quick success brought us these 211 large ones—an opportunity so rare that even we, famous for many years for floor coverings, hadn't dreamed of such a value being possible.

The above rugs are particularly choice. Substantial texture. Good colorings and all-over and medallion designs. Lovely soft reds, blues, old ivory, rose, white. A number of fine camel's hair rugs among them. Every rug guaranteed by us to give the long service properly expected of it.

$19.75 $29.75 $39.75

Sizes up to 3x5 ft. Sizes up to 3x5.7 ft. Sizes up to 4x7 ft.
